

THE EDITOR
SAYS—

The sewer situation, the curb and gutter, and street paving, the new school building, are all giving the City Dads and the School Board considerable food for thought at this time. The lack of money to do the city's part is the reason for the sewer and gutter, and paving. With the school board, the question is: shall we erect a building barely sufficient for the needs of today or anticipate the needs of the near future. The advance in material is given as the reason for the bids being so much higher than the architects estimate. We favor a building to provide for the next two years if we have to float a small bond issue.

Sunday is a day of rest for some and should be for all. To rest can be interpreted in different ways. It would be in line, the way we were raised, to attend Sunday School in the morning and church at least once a day. Then some relax and lay around the house all the day long, others go fishing or hunting, others play ball for exercise and sport, some shoot golf, some attend the picture show to rest and forget their troubles, some play bridge, others poker, some work around the house, some preachers preach on Sunday, some rest or recreation of others. But after all if each individual conscience dictates what is right and wrong, why worry about their souls?

Some are criticizing Governor Park for not calling an extra session of the Legislature to provide relief for the unemployed and the old age relief. If these critics will remember the fact, Governor Park wrote each member of the Senate and House to sound them out on the proposition and the answers showed conclusively that the members were unfavorable to the extra session. If any criticism is to be had pass it on to the members who failed to pass relief measures at the last session and not to Governor Park. He is to be congratulated for not being stampeded into an extra session that would have been a failure of the purpose for which called.

Some of these days there's going to be an explosion in Sikeston that may cause bloodshed. Those who own cabins on their premises to rent to negroes for gain will be the indirect cause for the reason that several families live in the cabins on some white folks property and white people who live nearby are getting good and tired of the crowds that congregate in the cabins and in the alleys nearby with their hilarity. The assessor is hereby notified that from $10 to $20 per month is realized from some of these cabins and the assessed valuation should be raised accordingly. The Sunset Addition was set aside for these people and there they have their churches and their schools and there they should have their restaurants and places of entertainment. Those who are able to keep a servant are well within their rights to keep their help in their cabins, but for money making, we believe it is wrong.

If there was ever a stinking piece of graft put over country printers and small shops, it is the fee paid a labor inspector who walks around the shop, then collects a dollar for telling you everything looks to be all right. He doesn't know, but he gets the dollar. We should have collected $2.50 from him for the pleasure he seemed to get after inspecting our gallery.

Dewey Short, the Republican keynoter, says the re-election of Roosevelt means bankruptcy and that anarchy is imminent. He means that if a Republican standard is elected there will be hell for pay. And he might have added that the election of Roosevelt saved the country from anarchy and bankruptcy. Just a difference of opinion between Dewey and the editor.

Typical of the recent disclosures concerning WPA is a report that Hopkins is investigating charges that some foreign-born work-relief recipients are sending a portion of their money to folks abroad. There were numerous reports, too, of new orders banning relief checks to those who drive automobiles up to relief headquarters.

A batch of blue martins and English sparrows were sparring over the bird house erected at the O'Hara home Tuesday afternoon. The martins used to be very common in this latitude before the sparrows took possession of all the martin boxes.

The Standard would be glad to see a law passed at the next session of the Legislature requiring a poll tax receipt dated sixty days before the general election be shown to entitle one to vote. This law would bring in quite a bit of revenue and shut out the floater and repeater.

Folks who know Ted Higgins, know him to be a very fine looking specimen of humanity, and we are told admirers of his strength and agility are arranging for him to enter the ring and wrestle Ole Olesen at an early date. This should be a real attraction.

Board Asks Approval of $15,000 Bond Issue For School Building

Residents will be asked to vote at a special election May 19 on a proposed $15,000 bond issue to help finance construction of a new elementary school this summer.

A decision to request a vote on a bond issue was made at a board of education meeting held Tuesday night after members had questioned and found taxpayers favoring an issue and opposing construction of a cheaper building than the one planned.

Bids received last Friday night on the school project were rejected and all certified checks were returned to bidders. The lowest one was $12,000 more than the amount now available for a school.

The board now has $30,000 for a building which will cost $40,000 plus furnishings and architect's fees. In addition, the board intends to contribute a sponsor's share on a WPA project for repairing, painting and improving the present buildings.

If the $15,000 bond issue is passed, the board will have enough money at its disposal to build a new structure, as well as to make badly needed improvements at the existing ones. It will immediately ask for new bids and award a contract so that the new building may be occupied as early next fall as possible, probably not long after the school term begins.

Board members have decided to ask approval of a bond issue only after trying by all other available means to build without increasing the district's debt. In a statement to newspapers, R. E. Bailey, secretary of the board, said: "The school board was hopeful of avoiding any bond issue at this time, but the bids received and opened for the construction of a new school building last week indicated that the board cannot put up the building for the money it has on hand."

"The board adjourned from Friday of last week until Tuesday of this week in order to talk to a large number of people to determine what the people in general thought ought to be done. The school building is an absolute necessity on account of the growth of the town and an increase in the number of children."

"It seemed to be the rather unanimous opinion of the people talked to that the board should proceed and ask for a sufficient bond issue to put up the building. Public sentiment also seemed to be against making the building small or cheap. The new building is to be an eight-room building without any gingerbread or extravagance, but the board plans a very high type substantial building, and the public apparently does not approve of putting up a smaller or cheaper building."

Senior Play Is Bright Fast-Moving Comedy

Interest in "Growing Pains," the three-act comedy by Aurania Rouverol which members of the senior class will present Tuesday evening, May 12, is mounting rapidly as news of the play's fast moving plot and bright lines seeps from the rehearsal room.

The story is based on the all-time popular theme of a 16-year-old in love. George and Terry McIntyre (Tom Baker and Betty Fisher) are problems children. Their father (Clint Denman) is a stolid university professor who strongly favors discipline, but their mother (Lucille Hahs) is a soft-hearted creature. And so they have a fling.

George acquires a flivver and Terry a permanent wave, high-heeled slippers, and a red evening gown. A party their parents give for them is well-attended. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre's almost successful attempt to eliminate present day dissipation is overthrown by Prudence (Maxine Sellards), a modern siren. Terry's sweetheart ignores her and the new red dress to court Prudence.

To Issue $10,000 Bond For First Sewer Unit

Councilmen Monday night authorized the issuance of a $10,000 general revenue bond to supply the city's contribution for the first approved unit of the WPA storm sewer project after they had accepted recommendations of a committee Mayor N. E. Fuchs appointed last week. They also installed the committee as a permanent group.

The committee, composed of J. L. Matthews, Barney Forrester, and Gust Zacher, had suggested that an engineer be hired to compile detailed information about the unit; that the council learn the cost of securing an engineer to draw complete plans and specifications for each of the four units; and that a revenue bond be issued to cover the city's cost of the first unit.

Committee members will confer the last of this week with L. J. Berthe of Charleston, the engineer who installed Sikeston's sanitary sewer system, to learn if he will draw plans for the unit one project and what charges he will ask.

Work on the project could probably be started this month. Presidential approval on it was received several weeks ago.

J. Boyette Fined $25 For Reckless Driving

Judge Joseph W. Myers sentenced Jesse Boyette to sixty days in jail and fined him $25 and cost Thursday after Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson had reduced the charge against him to a misdemeanor. Judge Myers stayed the jail sentence on the payment of fine and costs.

Troopers arrested Boyette Sunday and charged him with driving while intoxicated. Wilkerson altered the charge to reckless driving.

Judge Myers agreed to stay a ninety-day jail sentence he imposed on Harvey Minner on a bad check charge if he would make the check good. At Baron had filed a complaint against Minner for the Sikeston Bargain store.

A ninety-day jail sentence Judge Myers gave Frank Thomas, a negro, was stayed on good behavior and the approval of the circuit court.

Thomas was at first charged with being drunk, disturbing the peace of his wife, Rosa Thomas, and assaulting his son, Ben Thomas, with a knife. Testimony of the case was taken a week ago, but after Ben and Rosa said they did not wish to testify against Thomas, the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor. Judge Myers ordered the defendant to pay court cost.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MRS. EDITH MENZ DROPPED

A murder charge filed against Mrs. Edith Menz of near Rockview was formally dismissed this week in the Cape Girardeau county circuit court.

Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson asked the charge be dropped because he believes the state has insufficient evidence for conviction. A trial of Mrs. Menz in Scott county almost two years ago resulted in a hung jury. The case had been taken to Jackson on a change of venue.

Mrs. Menz had been charged with her husband, Otto Menz, and Ivan Bob Stroup of Cape Girardeau, with the murder of Frank Roseme, a Rockview merchant, on December 7, 1933. Menz was sentenced to fifteen years in prison after his conviction last year on a second degree murder charge. Stroup was acquitted.

The Ellis ambulance carried Mrs. H. A. Bach to St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau Friday for an operation.

CONRAD ARRESTED WITH PASSER OF BAD CHECKS

R. M. Lewis, a traveling salesman, and Irvin Conrad of Sikeston were arrested at Mountain View early Wednesday morning by officers who had received a pick-up order for them.

Lewis was wanted on a bad check charge. He allegedly passed a worthless check at the Rose-cliff hotel in Van Buren and at Mountain View before his arrest.

Conrad, whom Lewis had hired to drive him in the Kagle car, was released when officers were convinced he had no part in Lewis' activities. Lewis is in jail at West Plains.

Officers looking for Lewis and Conrad Tuesday night shot and wounded two or three Naylor and Neelyville farmers who were on their way to Arizona to visit friends. The shooting took place near Willow Springs after officers had tried unsuccessfully to flag down the farmers' car. The three men shot at the officers, whom they mistook for robbers.

Echoes as Alarm Clocks

MODERN Americans who have to invest in alarm clocks in order to be certain of waking up in time for work each morning may well envy the good fortune of Jim Bridger, famous frontiersman, who was able to draft Mother Nature into service to assure early rising.

Near Bridger's ranch in Wyoming were some obsidian cliffs. Frequently he heard the sharp crack of a rifle which puzzled him, because he knew there was no one within 147 miles of his home. Finally it dawned on him that these reports were the echoes of the rifle shots which he had fired the previous day when he was getting his daily supply of fresh meat. These obsidian cliffs had caught the report of his rifle, held it overnight and then sent it back to him each day to remind him that it was time to go out hunting again.

Next it occurred to Jim that he might just as well make use of the echoes in other ways. So every time he knew that he had to get up early the next morning, he would step outside the door, face the cliffs and shout: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!" And, sure enough, the next morning he would be awakened by the echo shouting in his ear: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!"

WALLACE FORMALLY
BECOMES A DEMOCRAT

DES MOINES, Ia., April 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, for years "a Democrat in feeling," formally became one in name as well today.

His party affiliation and that of Mrs. Wallace were changed from Republican to Democratic by the filing of their declarations with the County Auditor here. It was understood a friend filed the notices for them.

Wallace had said the change, deferred until after the Democratic state convention here, was "just a formality and really a recognition of my membership in the Democratic party."

"I've been a Democrat in feeling and have voted for Democratic candidates for more than eight years," he explained.

The son of a former Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, like his father, grew up in Iowa as an old line Republican. He left the Republican ranks in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith.

Refusing to support President Hoover for re-election in 1932, he campaigned in the farm belt for Roosevelt, whose farm policies he approved.

Staff of Life Goes on Parade

New ideas for sandwiches are welcome any time in the year but never more welcome than in the Spring when bridge luncheons and little informal teas demand something unusual for the occasion.

To fulfill that requirement I selected flavored butter sandwiches which are as different as they are delightful. And it is interesting too, to prepare new concoctions with which to spread bread for with a little ingenuity even the Staff of Life goes on parade in hues as brilliant as the flowers which bloom in the Spring.

A sandwich tray gay with irregular shaped sandwiches topped with orange butter, red butter, crushed strawberry butter, crushed raspberry butter, ripe olive butter, raw spinach butter, peanut butter and pimento butter stimulates a curious appetite to try them all and as hostess to a perfect Spring luncheon, you will enjoy seeing your guests break the rules of etiquette with several helpings.

There is a new pickle recipe too which blends in so perfectly with these novel sandwiches that I must give it to you now. They are called Refrigerator Pickles. Stored in an electric refrigerator, these pickles improve with age. They become more crisp and even the texture improves. The recipe is so simple, too. Slice one dozen sour pickles thin into a jar or covered dish. Mix one cup sugar, one-half cup seedless raisins and three sticks of cinnamon with the pickles and place in the food compartment of an electric refrigerator for twenty-four hours. Makes one quart.

Rainbow butter sandwiches, Spring pickles and a cup of hot tea with lemon is the solution to a menu for a simple bridge luncheon. Butter flavored with various fruit juices and incidentally at the same time colored to match your chosen color scheme gives splendid chances to be just a little different from the more usual type of sandwiches.

Orange Butter

Soften two or three ounces of sweet butter in a small bowl until it is the consistency of mayonnaise; then place bowl in dish of ice water and whip in two teaspoons orange juice, one teaspoon lemon juice and one teaspoon of powdered sugar. The butter will take up all the moisture if handled this way. (8 tablespoons of butter is equivalent to one quarter pound or 4 ounces).

Fruit juices make an ideal spread or filling for sandwiches. Sandwiches should be placed in an electric refrigerator until needed but the quicker they are served, the better the flavor. A teaspoon of finely chopped orange peel may be added if desired. Any fruit juice may be incorporated in butter by using this method. Partially melted butter should be placed in a bowl, whip in the juices and return to an electric refrigerator to harden.

Red Butter

Red butter is made from tomato paste pounded in a mortar, and then rubbed through a fine sieve and enough added to the butter to color; or a can of red tomato pulp boiled down with a clove of garlic and a few spices to the point of evaporation, cooled, then rubbed through a fine sieve and added to the butter.

Crushed Raspberry or Strawberry Butter

Crushed raspberry and crushed strawberry butter is made by rubbing fresh raspberries through a fine sieve. Add one tablespoon of the crushed berries to three ounces of butter. Make the butter take all the moisture you can incorporate in it.

Ripe Olive Butter

Stone and chop finely 20 large ripe olives and work them into enough creamed butter to bind. Add one tablespoon of mayonnaise to every three ounces of butter used. Season with salt. Mayonnaise should be stiff.

Raw Spinach Butter

Scald one cup of fresh spinach for one minute; drain dry, cool, and chop very fine. Mix with three ounces of cream butter, season with salt. Add one drop of onion juice and one-sixth teaspoon of grated nutmeg. If preferred, add a little mayonnaise. Spinach raw and mixed with mayonnaise makes an ideal sandwich filler.

Peanut Butter

Put shelled and skinned peanuts through a food chopper and then mash in a mortar. Mix with enough salt butter to get the proper consistency, then work in a little raw cream. Set in an electric refrigerator until needed.

Pimento Butter

Wash two or three red red pimentos in cold water, dry and rub through a fine sieve. Work the pimentos into one-fourth cup of creamed sweet butter, add one teaspoon of lemon juice and enough salt to season. A half teaspoon of paprika can be added for color.

SINKEY FIGHTS CLEAN IN MATCH WITH OLSEN; WINS

Eye gouging, mouth stretching, and slugging were part of the battle Charles Sinkey and Ole Olsen fought in the armory Tuesday night for victory in the Legion's main wrestling event.

Sinkey and Olsen are probably the toughest, dirtiest wrestlers ever in the ring here, but perhaps because Sinkey was to be the crowd's favorite this week, he gave an amazingly clean performance, resorting to tricks only after he had been tormented excessively by Olsen.

Sinkey won the match, too, but during the evening he suffered the tortures Olsen could inflict while Meroney was not watching. Sinkey got so tired of mouth stretching that once when he got a chance, he held Olsen's finger between his teeth for more than a minute while Olsen ran about frantically trying to loosen the grip. Sinkey also put Olsen's head between twisted ropes, but only after Olsen had done it first. Olsen's only other trick was biting through Sinkey's shoe to his toes.

Sinkey won the first fall with a rolling rocking chair split after seventeen minutes of tussling. He lost the second in fifteen and a half minutes when Olsen got a scissors and bounced him up and down on the mat several times before pinning him. In the third round, Sinkey got the fall in nine minutes while Olsen was attempting the same stunt.

The preliminary was entertaining although a little unusual. Billy Venable, who was to meet Roy Welch, was easily pinned in three minutes, and then interested the crowd by his inability to get from the ring unassisted. Meroney learned then that he had been hurt in a previous match and had only removed taping on his side Tuesday evening. Dr. Howard A. Dunaway, who examined him, said a cartilage had been torn from a lower right rib.

When it was found that Venable couldn't reappear, Meroney let Mason (Dizzy) Allen of Chaffee go on. Allen had asked Meroney earlier in the evening to put him on the circuit. Allen was outweighed nineteen pounds by Welch and was at a decided disadvantage since Welch is an expert wrestler, but he was game and the fans liked him. Welch had a good time, too, and smiled broadly as he got out of holds and pinned Allen twice in a short time.

SINKEY AND KNICKLE TO MEET NEW WRESTLERS

Rex Mobley, whom Mike Meroney considers one of the ranking men of his weight among the country's 34,000 wrestlers, will meet Charles Sinkey Tuesday night in the main event of the American Legion's wrestling card. Mobley weighs 190 pounds to Sinkey's 196, and his home is in Amarillo, Texas. Meroney had a hard time getting him on this circuit since he is always in demand for appearances.

For the preliminary, the always popular Freddie Knickle of Birmingham, Ala., will wrestle Raul Lopez, a 174-pounder of Mexico City, Mexico. Lopez has never been here before.

BAPTIST CHURCH PRAISED
DURING RADIO PROGRAM

Residents who listened to a religious program broadcast over a Harrisburg, Ill., radio station Wednesday morning heard praise for members of the Baptist church here.

The Rev. Leslie Garrison, a former pastor here, and Mrs. Garrison, and the Rev. O. R. Steiner, formerly a minister of the Oran Baptist church, and Mrs. Steiner, appeared on the program.

To all members of the Sikeston

Baptist church but particularly to those who were recently bereaved Mrs. Garrison dedicated her recitation of Edgar A. Guest's "It Takes a Heap of Livin'." Mrs. Garrison also asked the Rev. and Mrs. Steiner to sing "If You'll Only Trust in Jesus" especially for the young women's sextet, and Mr. Garrison greeted the church members before he preached on "The Unpardonable Sin."

Mr. Garrison is now conducting a revival at Mr. Steiner's church in Elkhart, Ind. The broadcast was given between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Hay: "That dress you have on, is the most perfect fit I've ever seen."

Mrs. Seed: "Then you should have seen the fit my husband had when he got the bill."

WOMEN DEMOCRATS OF COUNTY LEAD IN MEMBERS

Scott county Democratic women heard reports showing their organization leads all others of the tenth congressional district when they went to Caruthersville Saturday for a district quarterly meeting.

The reports were given at the conclusion of a tenth district membership drive. Scott county, with 849 is far ahead of Pemiscot, the second ranking county, which has 510 members. Scott county's achievement was made possible by the activity of numerous township captains, Mrs. V. Ragsdale of Illmo, the county organization president, said.

Among them were Mrs. John G. Powell, Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., and Mrs. A. C. Barrett of Sikeston; Mrs. E. D. Preston and Miss Eileen Smith of Chaffee; Mrs. Otis Bryans and Mrs. J. T. Baty of Oran; Mrs. O. L. Spencer of Benton; Mrs. Ada Frazier and Mrs. T. L. Huggins of Illmo; Mrs. Ben Speaks of Fomfelt; and Mrs. A. C. Cope of Blodgett.

"Of course it feels different, Dad... it is different!"

It took more than just good performance to win over 2,500,000 Ford V-8 fans in less than four years. It's an entirely different kind of performance that did it! It's the V-8 engine, first and foremost. The smoother flow of its 85 horsepower. Its pick-up in traffic. Its easy pull in the open and up the hills. For you can't expect any less modern engine to feel like a V-8. And you don't find another V-8 below $1645.

Then there's riding comfort. Ford springbase is 123"—almost a foot longer than wheelbase. You'll quickly feel the edge this gives a Ford on cars near its size and weight. Next, there's a type of chassis in the Ford not found anywhere else in the world today. That's why a Ford "keeps its feet" so remarkably on turns and over rough roads.

Why not try these advantages today? Before you decide on any new car—get the "V-8 feel" that put the Ford first among all cars last year!

COUNTY OFFICES
We are authorized to announce Killian Felter, of Illmo, as a candidate for Assessor of Scott county, subject to the will of the Democratic voters in the August primary.

To our way of thinking, to do a kindly act for children is a Godly act, pure and simple. There is to be a free clinic held here in Sikeston when specialists with trained nurses will remove tonsils, give treatment for other ailments for children who are unable to pay for these operations and treatment. From Poplar Bluff will come one specialist, from Cairo, another, the third had tendered his services from Cape Girardeau, but had to decline for the reason that the medical fraternity of that city declined to approve of this specialist leaving that city for free clinical work, so another will be sought elsewhere. Every community has a number of children needing attention of specialists, who haven't the money with which to pay and for that reason, the Kiwanis is sponsoring this free clinic and these specialists are offering their services free for humanity's sake.

Again we wish to call your attention to the beautiful window displays of our merchants. As old as we are, we believe we could love a mighty ugly girl wearing one of those fluffy, dreamy dresses.

Sixteen to one sounds like the William Jennings Bryan's campaign slogan, but this sixteen to one is the ratio of Pennsylvania's preference for Roosevelt over others in the Presidential race. Local Republicans just as well "take a walk" election day as to go to the polls as the prospects are they will be sunk without a trace.

Be certain and visit the Legion Park and see the beautiful beds of tulips now in full bloom, then to the Railroad park to see the trees and shrubs recently put out by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The tulips are from a shipment from Holland to W. H. Woelecke, of the Sikeston Greenhouse, who bedded them.

And another good way to heal and hair over the situation would be for all contenders to retire and let the two Sikeston editors run for Mayor. Boy! oh Boy, wouldn't you hear all about the short comings of these two "molders of public opinion".

Bob Joyner opened his new restaurant on East Malone avenue Tuesday of this week where a great many of his friend turned out to enjoy the splendid food prepared by his chef. The room was tastily arranged with roomy booths down the entire length of the west side, while the tables were placed down the center, each to accommodate four guests, down

Mrs. Frances Clodfelter Turner will manage this new establishment, ably assisted by three experienced waitresses. The Standard editor and Mrs. Blanton were among those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Joyner.

A long stretch of street in Kingshighway, the width of trench dug for sanitary sewer several years ago broke through and sunk 18 inches during the heavy rain of Monday night. At first it was believed by many that a long grave had been dug to bury out of sight forever the illegal voters of the late city election.

We are asked about the contest case just around the corner. We are not one of the principals in the case, neither one of the attorneys, therefore, we have nothing to say except from what we hear, if the matter is pressed some folks will be shown up in a pretty bad light and others face the penitentiary.

Hollywood Star-Lites

By Chuck Cochard

Hollywood, Calif., April 127.—Elinor Gwyn's famous "It" has at last been found—or at least measured by movie scientists.

On the theory that feminine "it" is, more or less, the vibrations of color as deflected in light from the face of a beautiful woman, Sam Kaufman, veteran makeup expert for Pioneer Pictures has perfected a system by which it is possible to measure these vibratory "it" cycles.

With a spectroscopic and a table of figures representing the scientific computation of the vibrations in all colors, Kaufman is now ready to analyze the "it" of all screen stars, male and female, thus solving forever, in cold figures, the question of just who has the most appeal.

Steffi Duna, new diminutive player, was Kaufman's first subject. Her vibrations per second, namely "it", according to Kaufman's computations, total no less than two quadrillion, 75 trillion! "Enough," says Kaufman amazed by the magnitude of his own idea, "to awaken romantic echoes in the soul of a marble statue." "Kaufman's system is simple enough in application and could be done at home by anyone wishing to calculate their own "it" power.

Light is reflected from the face of the subject analyzed through a common spectroscopic which segregates the colors. A chart containing the various vibratory powers of all colors can be obtained from your nearest scientist. Place these figures after each color reflected, add the total, and there's your "it".

Star-Lites: Dolores Costello Barrymore, who made her screen comeback in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," will have an opportunity to play her first glamorous role in her new film career in "Yours For the Asking" opposite George Raft. Miss Costello's last picture before retiring was in 1931. Others in the cast include Ida Lupino, Reginald Owen, Lynne Overman.

Can you imagine anything more beautiful than to photograph the story "Beau Geste" in color with Gary Cooper as the star... Samuel Goldwyn, visiting in London has signed Elizabeth Bergner to a five-year contract, with her first production to be "The Boy David", new play by Barrie... Janet Gaynor's next will be "Banjo On My Knee"... Ann Nagel, Warner's newest discovery, comes before the cameras for the first time as Dick Foran's leading lady in "Two-Gun Buckaroo."

Fighting Vegetable Pests

THERE are two major classifications of insect pests—chewing and sucking. Chewing insects, such as beetles, leave telltale holes in leaves. Control by dusting or spraying plants with arsenicals (poisons with arsenate of lead as a base) or pyrethrum. These remedies are known as stomach poisons, for they must be eaten by the insects. Plants commonly attacked include cucumber, squash, other vine crops, mustard, tomato and pepper.

Presence of sucking insects, such as aphids or plant lice, is indicated by a general lack of vitality in the plant. Control by dusting or spraying, directly on the insects, nicotine sulphate or pyrethrum. These insects do not eat exterior plant texture and must be killed by a contact poison. Among plants attacked are peas, pepper, cabbage and related crops.

All seedlings may well be treated early with light application of an arsenical.

Special treatment should be given two pests—cutworm and leaf beetle. The former (a chewing insect) is very fond of tender pepper, tomato and cabbage plants, and is controlled by spreading about a spoonful of "poison bran bait" near each plant. This should be done at nightfall. Leaf beetle (also a chewing insect) is found on tomato, pepper, turnips and other plants. It can be repelled by a Bordeaux mixture spray.

Remember this important "don't." Don't use arsenicals on the edible portion of vegetables within 14 days of the time they are to be used. Pyrethrum sprays, however, are equally effective and may be safely used at any time.

Flashes From Here and There—Alberto Valentin, brother of the late Rudolph, has been given a featured role in the Mary Ellis-Walter Pidgeon film, "Fatal Lady".

A treatise in Denver recently reopened, after a fire, with a policy of pictures, stage shows, a bar, restaurant, and dance space. Chairs have been removed from the main floor to allow dancing and the erection of food counters. Upon the completion of his role in "Bullets or Ballots", Edward G. Robinson goes to London to make a picture for Alexander Korda. The announcement that Radio studios would film David Lamson's "We Who Are About to Die", has brought an influx of requests to act as technical advisor on the prison picture by scores of ex-convicts who have since gone straight.

Round Hollywood: Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames whose reconciliation so often has been rumored, are still far apart. Mary Carlisle is waiting, feverishly for Paul Mitchell, who is coming all the way from London to see her. Dick Cromwell and Rochelle Hudson munching peanuts together at the circus. Grace Bradley and Frank Prince dancing together at the Beverly-Willshire hotel's Florentine room to the newest sensation in Hollywood, Larry Lee and his music who by the way has introduced a novelty entitled "Dancing in the Dark". Frances Farmer and Leif Erikson hamburgering together at a lunch wagon outside Paramount.

CROPS USED IN BASES
Payments Hinge on Soil-Depleting Crop Bases Payments under the new soil-conservation program hinge on what is known as the "soil-depleting crop base," which will be established for every farmer in Scott county who wishes to co-operate in the program, according to County Agent F. B. Veatch, Jr. This base is essential for measuring the increase in soil-conserving crops or practices on individual farms in 1936, in line with the national goal to increase by 30,000,000 acres the amount of crop land devoted to soil-conserving crops or uses.

Each farm's soil-depleting base will be the total acreage of soil-depleting crops harvested on the farm in 1935, modified as the community committee finds necessary to allow for unusual conditions and to establish a fair relationship between individual bases within the community.

The principal crops which will go to make up soil-depleting bases for farms in this county are field corn; sweet corn; broomcorn; popcorn; cotton; Irish potatoes; sweet potatoes; cultivated sunflowers; commercial truck and canning crops; grain sorghums and sweet sorghums; small grains harvested for grain or hay, or seeded alone and pastured such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flax, and grain mixtures; and annual grasses, such as sudan and millets.

Farmers who co-operated in the 1935 crop-control program will get credit in their soil-depleting bases for any adjustments which they made under those programs. That is, the soil-depleting bases on such farms will include the number of adjusted acres under the contract that were devoted to soil-conserving crops in 1935. Soil-conserving crops include practically all annual, biennial and perennial grasses, grown on crop land from which no soil-depleting crop is harvested during the year.

Adjustments likewise will be made for unusual variations in plantings in 1936 because of adverse weather conditions. Adjustments also may be made with bases that are either abnormally high or abnormally low in order to bring them more nearly in line with bases for similar farms in the community.

If necessary, the various soil-depleting bases for individual farmers will be further adjusted to bring them into line with the aggregate base acreage of soil-depleting crops established for the county from available statistics on acreage and production in past years.

Special soil-depleting bases will be established in the case of cotton.

HEY MOTORISTS! LISTEN!
HOLDING HANDS!
BY THE LITTLE ENGINEER

THAT headline doesn't mean holding hands with a gal while you're driving. That's out! It means the proper position of your hands on the steering wheel. Did you ever give that a thought?

You can generally spot a new motorist. He clutches the wheel tightly on both sides with arms extended rigidly, teeth gritted, every nerve taut. All wrong. Gradually he'll get over it and acquire more relaxed and less enervating wheel-holding habits. And these may be wrong, too.

Some motorists steer with one hand, sometimes with one finger. Despite the marvelous steering mechanisms of the new cars this is a direct invitation to serious trouble. So is the widely adopted practice of driving with the left elbow sticking out the window or resting on the window sill. Both habits give too little and too slow control of the steering in emergencies.

Position of feet is also important. Flat on the floor is best after you've thoroughly learned where the brake and clutch pedals are and can manipulate them instantly. Don't "ride" either clutch or brake. It produces dangerous and costly wear.

ON cars equipped with all-felt window channels, trouble is often experienced with the felt swelling up when wet, so that it is almost impossible to raise or lower the glass. Running an ordinary black marking crayon, such as used to label boxes, along the inside of the channels will permit the window to be moved easily, regardless of weather conditions.

When lubricating the chassis of an automobile equipped with four-wheel brakes, never fill the front hub caps with grease. Many greasy and grabbing front brakes have been caused by the presence of grease in the caps. The front wheels should be removed after every 5,000 miles of running, and the bearings washed thoroughly with gasoline. The bearings should then be re-oiled with grease and replaced.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

MAY first brings Child Health Day and reminds us that children need plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables. Fresh fish, however, is a better value this week than most meat cuts and it is just as good in the diet. If cooked and served differently one does not get tired of fish any more than of meat. Chuck of beef and veal are perhaps the best meat value.

Asparagus, spinach, green beans, peas, onions, carrots and beets are plentiful. Bananas are inexpensive and when ripe are an excellent food for children.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

Home Demonstrator Agents Notes

Delegates to Washington

Mrs. Otto Bugg, president of the Vanduser home economics extension club, Mrs. Grover Baker of Sikeston, and Miss Veva Anthony, county home demonstration agent, have made reservations for the trip to Washington, D. C., the last of May, to attend the meeting of the association of country women of the world. Several others are considering the trip. It is hoped that there will be four or five delegates when the enrollment is completed the last of this week. Any Scott county farm bureau member or any woman co-operating in home economics extension work is eligible to go as a delegate. If you are interested in making this trip get in touch with Miss Anthony at once. A special rate has been made by the railroads which makes the trip very economical. This is an opportunity for any one interested to attend a worthwhile conference at a minimum cost.

Garden and Canning Survey Made

One of the goals set up by the women's home economics extension clubs of Scott county was to reduce the amount of money spent for food by increasing the production of vegetables and by increasing the amount of food-stuff stored and canned. A survey has been made of last year's gardening and canning activities. It has been found that the average number of vegetables grown by a community varied from thirteen to twenty, while the average of vegetables canned or preserved ranged from 66 to 172 quarts per family. The women believe they can raise this average to from twenty to twenty-five vegetables per family and the amount canned to fifty quarts per member for each family. This fall another survey will be conducted and the results published.

4-H Club News

Mrs. Ollie Royal, with the as-stance of the home demonstration agent, organized a 4-H Clothing I club in the neighborhood of the Chaney school district. Mrs. Royal was unanimously chosen as leader by the nine girls forming the club. Miss Ruth Wilcox was elected president; Miss Minnie L. Byrd, vice-president; Nota Hixson, secretary; Millie Lee Byrd, song leader; and Mary Royal, club reporter.

The girls plan to make three or more cotton garments and to exhibit their garments at the county 4-H achievement day. They also plan to enter a demonstration team in the county contest. Their goal is to have 100 per cent of the membership complete the project.

Retail Sales Reporting Service Available To Independent Stores

The extension of the retail sales reporting service of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, to include the state of Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Arkansas and Kansas, was announced today by Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce. This step conforms to the policy of the bureau to supply American business with accurate and current business information, as it is stated.

In making the announcement, Secretary Roper pointed out that this service, long needed to fill an important gap in the information regarding retail distribution, was originally initiated in accordance with the recommendations of the committee on "Elimination of Waste in Distribution" of the business advisory council, and will be a permanent part of the research of the department of commerce.

The purpose of the monthly sales reporting service is two-fold; the establishment of an accurate sensitive business indicator, and the special benefit to the retailer himself which this cooperative service provides. Retail trade is among the first sections of business activity to feel any change in general economic conditions, which greatly adds to the value of these data as an index of business. The individual retailer is benefited by participating in this service as it enables him to check up on his own business performance as compared with the general experience of others in his own and related lines of business. With this monthly barometer at hand he can determine whether his store is operating at the same level as the average for his line, and, perhaps even more important, he can use the information given him as a basis for his planning of future operation, such as sales and advertising campaigns, stock buying.

The bulletins, issued monthly, are released about twenty-five days after the close of the business month for each individual state, with the lines of business shown separately. The basic data for the bulletins are secured from a representative sample of retailers throughout each state, who furnish the bureau with confidential reports each month.

The lines of business included in this service are:

Grocery without meats; grocery with meats; country general stores; restaurants; florists; drugs; men's and boys' clothing; family clothing; Women's ready-to-wear; shoe; motor vehicles; filling stations; furniture; household appliances; lumber and building materials; hardware; jewelry.

To avoid duplication of effort, department store sales, which are already collected throughout the country by the federal reserve system, are not included in this monthly survey. Chain store sales also excluded as they are covered in separate services especially designed to reflect the trend of their business.

The only request made of the cooperating retailers is that they fill in three figures on a prepared form, seal the report in a self-addressed envelope and mail it to the St. Louis district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, 635 New Federal building, St. Louis, Missouri. The monthly bulletins are sent free of charge to all independent retailers cooperating in the program. All interested retailers are requested to contact the St. Louis district office of the bureau, or write to the bureau in Washington for complete information.

The service is now available through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce for the state of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin; for Massachusetts, in cooperation with the federal Reserve bank of Boston; and for Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, in cooperation with the bureau of business research of the University of Texas. Preparations are well under way toward extending the service to Colorado and Wyoming, in cooperation with the bureau of business and social research of the University of Denver; and to Ohio, in cooperation with the Ohio State University. Other states are to be included later, and it is planned that the program will ultimately be national in scope.

BOY SEVERS ARTERY AND LOSES A QUART OF BLOOD

Buddy Griffin was probably pretty weak Wednesday.

Buddy is a little 8-year-old negro boy who lives with his father, Griffin, on an E. P. Coleman farm near town. Early Tuesday afternoon while he was helping his mother catch chickens to put them up before the rain, he stepped on a piece of glass, which severed an artery.

Because the rain fell hard, Buddy's family couldn't get him to Dr. T. C. McClure's office for an hour, and when he did arrive, blood was pouring from his foot onto Front street, the stairs, and in Dr. McClure's office. He lost about a quart.

KIWANIS TONSIL CLINIC TO BE HELD HERE MAY 8

The Kiwanis club sponsored tonsil clinic will be held in the grammar school building basement on May 8, the Rev. E. H. Orear said yesterday.

Dr. James Johnson of Cairo and a second throat specialist from Poplar Bluff will perform operations on children whose cases have been approved for treatment and whose parents have given consent. Dr. Johnson directed a similar clinic at Charleston last year. The specialists will be assisted by qualified nurses.

Dr. M. H. Shelby of Cape Girardeau, who was to have been here to help at the clinic, was prevented by a resolution Cape Physicians recently passed forbidding members of their profession to give free treatment in other towns.

Mr. Orear could not tell this week how many children will undergo operations. Two hundred and fifty need tonsillectomies, he said, most of them will be eliminated either through the ability of their parents to pay for treatment or through parents withholding consent.

M. E. BIBLE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN CAPE

Dr. Robert W. Goodloe, professor of church history in the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, will give a series of Bible lectures in the Centenary Methodist church at Cape Girardeau on May 3, 4, and 5. This series of lectures is for the entire Cape Girardeau district. Rev. Dawson C. Bryan is the presiding elder.

Dr. Goodloe is an authority in the field of church history and will be able to bring valuable help to the laity. Hundreds of students who have sat under Dr. Goodloe in his classes testify that he has all of the enthusiasm and fire of the original Methodists along with the intelligent scholarship of a present day leader. He is worth the sacrifice of time and effort to enable you to hear all of his lectures.

He will lecture in the afternoon at 2:30 on the "Acts of the Apostles" and at evening at 7:30 on "The Church and the Sacraments." The public is invited to these lectures and the price of admission is only your good will to the cause of Christ.

ILLINOIS JAIL BREAKERS ADMIT THEFT OF AUTO

Phillip Busick and Earl Fines, the Illinois boys caught by highway patrolmen March 31 after they had stolen five cars and a rowboat in a flight from the Bloomington, Ill., jail, pled guilty in the Cape Girardeau county circuit court Tuesday to theft of Eldon Roberts' automobile in Jackson.

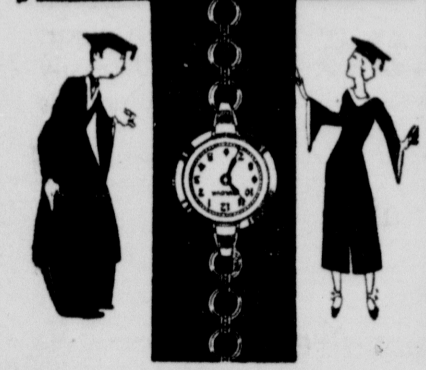

Judge Frank Kelly sentenced Busick to four years in the Missouri training school for boys at Booneville and rejected the boy's mother's plea for clemency. He did not sentence Fines but instructed the prosecuting attorney to learn if Fines is still wanted in Bloomington, to serve a term of from one to twenty years.

Fines, who has had an extensive criminal career, was serving a term for automobile theft and Busick a term for vagrancy when they broke from the Bloomington jail and started south in cars they stole along the way. They were caught in New Madrid.

Wallace Byrd's $10,000 damage suit against Elmer Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, and Byron Patterson for the death of his brother, Tony, at the Diamond tavern August 29, 1935, was continued. The case was taken to the Cape court on a change of venue from Scott county.

WHAT THE JUNIOR CHAMBER IS DOING

What the Junior Chamber is Doing Dear Major Bowes

They know that the town is probably too small to be made an honor city, but if the major even mentions Sikeston's request some night, they will feel rewarded. They asked Dr. Tom L. Chidester, the secretary, to send a letter to Major Bowes, and Dr. Chidester, like a native, although he has lived here only since last fall, wrote these lines:

"I am writing you on behalf of the Sikeston Junior Chamber of Commerce in regard to your Sunday night broadcast over N.B.C. Network.

"We are interested in knowing what a city must do to become favored as your Honor City. We would appreciate greatly this information and assure you the greatest co-operation.

"Sikeston is located in the Southeastern corner of Missouri on Highways No. 60, 61, and 62 with a population of 7000. It lies half way between St. Louis, Missouri, and Memphis, Tennessee, and is known as Southeast Missouri's oasis. We are twenty miles from the Mississippi river, thus affording us river transportation to the Gulf of Mexico. Sikeston is endowed by its rich farm lands, raising cotton, corn and wheat extensively. There are also several industries here which afford nice payrolls. We have two railroads, one airport and a bus line. To become your Honor City would greatly benefit us in our new project of building Sikeston to a City of industries."

Since the letter was sent only Saturday, Major Bowes has had it only two or three days. The junior chamber awaits his public or private answer.

Queen of Beauty

The junior chamber, as eager to find beauty as to lure industries here, is thinking of sponsoring a contest this spring to find a young woman who could represent Sikeston at a state-wide competition to be held during the week of the Missouri fair in Sedalia. Last year judges selected Miss Freda Lankford after the junior chamber had paraded almost fifty girls before them. If rules governing the contest are the same, the club will probably hold one here this month or next.

New Members

Roy Beard and Billy Malone were voted into the junior chamber and Garwood Sharp became an active member at Tuesday night's meeting.

EXPLAINS SOIL PROGRAM Community Committeemen Assist In Preparing Work Sheets

All farmers, including those who are tenants, operators, or owners of farms in Scott county, now have available the services of community and county committeemen and county agricultural agents to assist them in preparing work sheets under the new national agricultural conservation program, advises F. B. Veatch, Jr., the county agent. Committeemen are now assisting in making out work sheets and are aiding individual farmers in planning their farming operations so as to conserve and build their soil and qualify for grants.

A farmer is under no obligation to fill out a work sheet or to perform in line with the program. In any event he may have the advantage of learning how his farming operations could be adjusted to qualify under the conservation program. However, a farmer must fill out a work sheet if he is to be eligible to apply for a grant.

The program is designed to benefit all persons engaged in farming, including tenants, operators, and owners. Each can contribute to the program by familiarizing himself with the conditions and by engaging in a soil-building program on the land which he, himself, farms.

Local committeemen will aid each farmer in determining his soil-depleting acreage base and necessary and proper practices in order to qualify for payments.

"As the government is sharing with farmers the expense of improving the fertility of their farms", says County Agent Veatch, "farmers should be prepared to furnish committeemen with the necessary information and to cooperate in every way possible. The county association considers this an excellent opportunity to assure a good future for farming in Scott county."

ADULT EDUCATION

The Adult Education movement springs from the assumption that knowledge is the true foundation of individual happiness and a necessary condition for social progress. Civilization can only succeed as knowledge grows, and as new abilities are discovered and used for common ends. Modern society can provide a better life for its members only if knowledge and the power of leadership can be made to keep pace with the growing need for both in this rapidly changing world. Heretofore custom and tradition were sufficient to provide for its propagation. Education could safely be confined to a few who were to act as leaders. But in a society whose very existence depends upon the power of adaption to change in which new and better ways of living are made possible only by new knowledge which all must possess, the choice lies between education at a much higher level for larger numbers of people or a discovery of some means whereby the great complexity of modern life may be reduced to a mechanical routine. The success of a democracy depends directly upon the degree of intelligence exhibited by the masses and that degree of intelligence depends upon the amount of educational opportunity that has been continuously open to these masses. The ambition of Adult Education is to set men free from bad taste in living, in recreation and most of all free from the utter drabness of an unfulfilled life. The span of living is too brief to be filled with useless and light activities. Recreation is necessary but education will enable persons to choose such recreation as will be a contributing factor to mental growth and character building. Education, upon the part of the individual, ceases only at death.

Under the Adult Education program in Scott County the work is divided into three groups—Literary, General Adult and Vocational. Many beginners who have been taught to read and write. Others, for the sake of wider culture have improved themselves to achieve greater efficiency in social service. A large number of homemakers have availed themselves of the opportunity to learn to utilize materials from existing resources. Helpful hints on child care, cooking and other phases of homemaking have been stressed.

May 4-9 has been set aside as Achievement Week. An exhibit of work accomplished and a program in connection will be observed.

FARMERS ARE IN CHARGE

Will Co-operatively Control New Soil Program

Local farmers themselves have control over the new national agricultural conservation program in Scott county, says County Agent F. B. Veatch, Jr. The entire organization—community, county and state, is made up of farmers acting in co-operation with the extension service of the U. S. department of agriculture and the agricultural adjustment administration and state colleges of agriculture.

Committees elected by farmers of the community constitute the active field force. They advise with their neighbors and assist them in preparing work sheets so that their farming practices may embrace soil-conserving and soil-building requirements to qualify for federal grants.

All farmers are eligible for membership in the Scott county agricultural conservation association. The chairman of each community or township committee is a member of the board of directors of the county association. The president of the county association is chosen by the county board and he, the vice president, and one or more elected board members constitute the county committee.

The county committee passes upon such questions as may arise within the county, reviews all bases established by community committeemen as well as forms filled in the county in connection with the act, makes recommendations to the secretary of agriculture concerning the making of grants, and, in accordance with official instructions, may hold hearings, conduct investigations, or consider special cases that may appear to warrant additional attention.

The state agricultural conservation committee has wide powers to recommend soil-building practices, crops qualifying under the program, and to regulate Class I and Class II grants. Again this is a farmers' board acting with representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture.

County Agent Veatch has been designated to represent the secretary of agriculture in dealing with the Scott county agricultural conservation association.

Wanderings of Isaac and Jacob

THE Hebrews remained in Canaan, living off their flocks and herds like the rest of the pastoral tribes in the land. But they refused to merge with these other tribes despite that they were so like them. When their chieftain's son, Isaac, was ready to take a wife, his father sent all the way to Padan-Aram—about 450 miles!—to get a Hebrew maiden for him. And years later, Isaac was in turn exceedingly anxious that his own son, Jacob, should also seek his wife in Padan-Aram. Intermarriage with the Canaanites was counted altogether a crime.

Abraham died full of years, and Isaac succeeded him as chieftain of the Hebrews in Canaan. He and his followers dwelt in what was called the South Country, a sandy region on the edge of the desert. Perhaps they were unable to penetrate farther north, where the soil was much more fertile, because the Canaanites there were better able to keep newcomers out. Even in the South Country, which was a sort of No-Man's Land the Hebrews had their fierce battles to fight.

Genesis 26:10-20 reports what may have been a common incident in their daily life: "And Isaac's servants digged in the valley, and found there a well of springing water. And the herdsmen of Gerar did strive with Isaac's herdsmen, saying, 'The water is ours.' There must have been much of such 'striving' until finally Isaac made treaties with certain of the neighboring sheikhs. (The word 'sheikh'—which is pronounced sheich—is the Arabic for chieftain. It does not even remotely connote the handsome, impetuous lover in desert garb who is so popular a figure in our cinemas.)

Thereafter Isaac dwelt in peace at an oasis named Beer-Sheba, and not until he was near death did he move again. He went then to Hebron, which had been the central camp of the Hebrews during Abraham's time. There, in the Cave of Machpelah, Abraham and his wife, Sarah, lay buried. And when Isaac died, he, too, was buried there.

Jacob, although he was the younger son of Isaac, became the chieftain of the Hebrews when his father died. His elder brother, Esau, was a wild fellow who took native women for his wives and became the father of a race of marauders down in the wilderness of Mt. Seir. Jacob managed to trick Esau out of the blessing which belonged to the first-born, and then fled north to Haran, his mother's native land.

There he joined the clan of his uncle, Laban, and with his labor bought two of Laban's daughters as his wives. And with the aid of God, Jacob so prospered that soon he had a clan of his own. He then returned to Canaan, for that was, after all, his real homeland. On the way back he was met by Esau, who had marched up from Seir with 400 of his followers; but there were no hostilities for Esau had forgiven his brother.

Jacob led his clan across the Jordan and settled near Shechem; but before long an unpleasantness with the natives forced him to seek new pasturage for his flocks. He moved south, stopping at Bethel, which was a holy place to him because there he had had a wondrous vision when on his flight to Haran. (It was still an important shrine many centuries later, as we shall learn farther on in this book.)

At Bethel Jacob renewed his covenant with Jehovah, and then moved on to Ephrath, where he buried his beloved wife, Rachel. Finally he got as far south as Hebron, where he laid eyes once more on his aged father, Isaac. And in Hebron, he stayed many years, ruling there, after his father died, as chieftain of the whole Hebrew clan, and prospering all the time. Perhaps he would have remained in Hebron till his death had it not been for his son Joseph.

The Adventures of Joseph

JACOB had many sons, but of them all his most favored was the young one, Joseph. Joseph was unlike his brethren, for he was a dreamer and an ambitious youth, while they were stolid, hard-headed fellows content to be mere herdsmen. And therefore they all distrusted and envied Joseph. Now it came to pass that one day his father sent the boy to see how his brothers were faring, for they had gone off to the north with the tribal flocks.

The Hebrew herdsmen evidently found it necessary at times to wander far from the tribal encampment at Hebron in order to find fresh pasturage. In this particular instance they were reported to have gone to Shechem, which must have been at least a two or three-days' journey away. Joseph followed them thither, only to learn, however, that they had wandered still farther north. So he followed after them and found them at Dothan. But when his brethren saw him coming, instead of welcoming him, they took him prisoner and sold him to a caravan of Ishmaelite or Midianite traders going to Egypt.

By these traders he was in turn sold as a slave to an Egyptian official named Potiphar, and bitter were the experiences which Joseph then encountered. False accusation was brought against him by Potiphar's wife, and Joseph was flung into prison. But through the intervention of Jehovah he won his release after a time, and then actually rose to be viceroy of all Egypt. He forewarned the king—or pharaoh, as each king was called in Egypt—that a famine was coming, and urged him to store up grain in advance. And when ensuing events proved the value of Joseph's counsel, he was given the highest honors in the land.

Now the famine came also to Canaan, and old Jacob, hearing there was grain stored up in Egypt, sent his sons to buy some there. And thus were the brethren brought face to face with Joseph once more. But they had long repented of their crime, and Joseph took the sweetest revenge by returning good for evil.

He obtained royal permission for all of them to settle in the fertile meadows of Egypt. Jacob, still the chieftain of the Hebrews, did not hesitate to join in the long trek through the desert, even though he was a very old man by now. He settled in a region called Goshen, and there his descendants continued to live for generations.

So long as Joseph was still alive, the Hebrews were left at peace in Goshen. Dwelling in the generous delta of the River Nile, they prospered exceedingly and multiplied until "the land was filled with them." But when Joseph died, and his service to the country was forgotten, the Egyptians turned on the alien folk and made them slaves.

Taskmasters lashed them to work on those huge buildings, the ruins of which are still to be seen in Egypt. They built "treasure-houses," that is, fortresses or garrisons, for the ruling Pharaoh. (The ruins of two of these "treasure-houses," Pitom and Ramses, have been located in modern times. Bitter indeed was the travail of the Hebrews, for their masters were without mercy.)

But then Jehovah had mercy on his people and sent them a leader named Moses to deliver them from bondage. The story of that deliverance is recounted in the Book of Exodus, and it is a story full of wonders. Moses had to bring down ten fell plagues upon the Egyptians before at last Pharaoh would let the Hebrews go. Even then the tyrant was not sufficiently humbled, for immediately after the slaves departed he gathered his army and set out to recapture them. The runaways, heavily laden with the booty they had taken from their former masters, had not been able to travel fast; indeed they were still no farther than the Bitter Lakes when Pharaoh was almost on them.

Must Give Aid

The international salvage treaty adopted by 20 nations in 1910 says that every master of a ship is bound, so far as he can do so without serious danger to his vessel and her crew and passengers, to render assistance to everybody, even though an enemy, found at sea in danger of being lost.

EDITOR
SAYS—

The sewer situation, the curb and gutter, and street paving, the new school building, are all giving the City Dads and the School Board considerable food for thought at this time. The lack of money to do the city's part is the reason for the sewer and gutter, and paving. With the school board, the question is: shall we erect a building barely sufficient for the needs of today or anticipate the needs of the near future. The advance in material is given as the reason for the bids being so much higher than the architects estimate. We favor a building to provide for the next two years if we have to float a small bond issue.

Sunday is a day of rest for some and should be for all. To rest can be interpreted in different ways. It would be in line, the way we were raised, to attend Sunday School in the morning and church at least once a day. Then some relax and lay around the house all day long, others go fishing or hunting, others play ball for exercise and sport, some shoot golf, some attend the picture show to rest and forget their troubles, some play bridge, others poker, some work around the flowers, most preachers preach on Sunday, some try to regulate the form of rest or recreation of others. But after all of each individual's conscience dictates what is right and wrong, why worry about their souls?

Some are criticizing Governor Park for not calling an extra session of the Legislature to provide relief for the unemployed and the old age relief. If these critics will remember the fact, Governor Park wrote each member of the Senate and House and sound them out on the proposition and the answers showed conclusively that the members were unfavorable to the extra session. If any criticism is to be had pass it on to the members who failed to pass relief measures at the last session and not to Governor Park. He is to be congratulated for not being stampeded into an extra session that would have been a failure of the purpose for which called.

Some of these days there's going to be an explosion in Sikeston that may cause bloodshed. Those who own cabins on their premises to rent to negroes for gain will be the indirect cause, for the reason that several families live in the cabins on some white folks property and white people who live nearby are getting good and tired of the crowds that congregate in the cabins and in the alleys nearby with their filth. The assessed value is hereby notified that from $10 to $20 per month is realized from some of these cabins and the assessed valuation should be raised accordingly. The Sunset Addition was set aside for these people and there they have their churches and their schools and there they should have their restaurants and places of entertainment. Those who are able to keep a servant are well within their rights to keep their help in their cabins, but for money making, we believe it is wrong.

If there was ever a stinking piece of graft put over country printers and small shops, it is the fee paid a labor inspector who walks around the shop, then collects a dollar for telling you everything looks to be all right. He doesn't know, but he gets the dollar. We should have collected $2.50 from him for the pleasure he seemed to get after inspecting our gallery.

Dewey Short, the Republican keynoter, says the re-election of Roosevelt means bankruptcy and that anarchy is imminent. He means that if a Republican standpoint is elected there will be hell to pay. And he might have added that the election of Roosevelt saved the country from anarchy and bankruptcy. Just a difference of opinion between Dewey and the editor.

Typical of the recent disclosures concerning WPA is a report that Hopkins is investigating charges that some foreign-born work-relief recipients are sending a portion of their money home to folks abroad. There were numerous reports, too, of new orders banning relief checks to those who drive automobiles up to relief headquarters.

A batch of blue martins and English sparrows were sparring over the bird house erected at the O'Hara home Tuesday afternoon. The martins seemed to be very common in this latitude before the sparrows took possession of all the martin boxes.

The Standard would be glad to see a law passed at the next session of the Legislature requiring a poll tax receipt dated sixty days before the general election be shown to entitle one to vote. This for both men and women. Such a law would bring in quite a bit of revenue and shut out the floater and repeater.

Folks who know Ted Higgins, know him to be a very fine looking specimen of humanity, and we are told admirers of his strength and agility are arranging for him to enter the ring and wrestle Ole Olsen at an early date. This should be a real attraction.

Board Asks Approval of $15,000 Bond Issue For School Building

Residents will be asked to vote at a special election May 19 on a proposed $15,000 bond issue to help finance construction of a new elementary school this summer.

A decision to request a vote on a bond issue was made at a board of education meeting held Tuesday night after members had questioned and found taxpayers favoring an issue and opposing construction of a cheaper building than the one planned.

Bids received last Friday night on the school project were rejected and all certified checks were returned to bidders. The lowest one was $12,000 more than the amount now available for a school.

The board now has $30,000 for a building which will cost $40,000 plus furnishings and architect's fees. In addition, the board intends to contribute a sponsor's share on a WPA project for repairing, painting, and improving the present buildings.

If the $15,000 bond issue is passed, the board will have enough money at its disposal to build a new structure, as well as to make badly needed improvements at the existing ones. It will immediately ask for new bids and award a contract so that the new building may be occupied as early next fall as possible, probably not long after the school term begins.

Board members have decided to ask approval of a bond issue only after trying by all other available means to build without increasing the district's debt. In a statement to newspapers, R. E. Bailey, secretary of the board, said: "The school board was hopeful of avoiding any bond issue at this time, but the bids received and opened for the construction of a new school building last week indicated that the board cannot put up the building for the money it has on hand."

"The board adjourned from Friday last week until Tuesday of this week in order to talk to a large number of people to determine what the people in general thought ought to be done. The school building is an absolute necessity on account of the growth of the town and an increase in the number of children."

"It seemed to be the rather unanimous opinion of the people talked to that the board should proceed and ask for a sufficient bond issue to put up the building. Public sentiment also seemed to be against making the building small or cheap. The new building is to be an eight-room building without any gingerbread or extravagance, but the board plans a very high type substantial building, and the public apparently does not approve of putting up a smaller or cheaper building."

Golfer's Open Season With Win Over Cape

The Sikeston Golf Club opened the 1936 season Sunday with a victory over the Hillcrest Country Club of Cape Girardeau by a score of 39 to 16.

In the initial contest seven local golfers shot under 80. Hester Alexander was low medalist for Sikeston with a 69, 1 stroke under par. George Helton was low among the visitors with a 72.

Following are the scores: Hester Alexander 35-34-69-3; C. Schwab 44-36-80-3; E. L. Kirk 37-34-71-3; G. W. McClintock 41-37-78-3; Bill Malone 37-39-76-3; Geo. Helton 36-36-72-3; Pete Medley 32-39-71-2; Dave Hawkins 45-41-86-3; Lyman Bowman 38-38-76-3; J. F. Cox, Jr. 44-44-88-3; Lynn Stalcup 44-41-85-1; Don Black 42-42-84-2; Dr. C. C. McClure 36-36-72-3; R. Senior Play Is Bright Fast-Moving Comedy

Interest in "Growing Pains," the three-act comedy by A. T. Douglas, head of the district WPA labor department; Earl Johnson, assistant supervisor of the labor division; B. Hugh Smith, personnel director for the area WPA offices; Mrs. G. Moore Greer, district supervisor of the federal writers' project; and C. F. George and every other young man at the party seek her favors. When the hosts find there is a shortage of ice cream, George sets off in his car, and in a hurry, passes a red light. An argument with a traffic cop results in his going to jail for the night. The next morning Prudence tells him he is too young for her, and although many other disconcerting experiences are his, the play's end is bright and promising.

Dorothy Dover, Gerine Rice, Ellen Davey, Joe McCord, Clay Mitchell, Glenn Williams, Joe Dover, Judson Boardman, Charles Yanson, Betty Donnell, Mildred McCoy, Ruth Blomfield, and Viva Watkins also have speaking parts, and next week many other students will be selected for the roles of party guests. Miss Frances Burch, who last directed a senior play in 1934, has charge of the performance this year.

Seniors began this week to sell tickets to the play. Pupils will be admitted for 25 cents. Reserved seats costing 40 cents each are now on sale at the H. & L. drug store.

To Issue $10,000 Bond For First Sewer Unit

Councilmen Monday night authorized the issuance of a $10,000 general revenue bond to supply the city's contribution for the first approved unit of the WPA sewer project after they had accepted recommendations of a committee.

Mayor N. E. Fuchs appointed last week. They also installed the committee as a permanent group. The committee, composed of J. L. Matthews, Barney Forrester, and Gust Zacher, had suggested that an engineer be hired to compile detailed information about the unit; that the council learn the cost of securing an engineer to draw complete plans and specifications for each of the four units; and that a revenue bond be issued to cover the city's cost of the first unit.

Committee members will confer the last of this week with L. T. Berthe of Charleston, the engineer who installed Sikeston's sanitary sewer system, to learn if he will draw plans for the unit one project and what charges he will ask. Work on the project could probably be started this month. Presidential approval on it was received several weeks ago.

Several Attending M. E. Missionary Conference

Many Sikeston women have gone to Jackson this week to attend sessions of the silver jubilee convention of the St. Louis conference Methodist women's missionary society, which formally opened Wednesday at the New McKendree church.

Mrs. Lacy Allard of the Russell-Bradley society, Mrs. Arch Russell of Ebert-Keady, and Mrs. Taylor of Ben-Jon are delegates. They are staying in Jackson during the time of the meeting, as are Mrs. Margaret Harper and Mrs. J. N. Ross, vice-president of the women's missionary society of the St. Louis conference.

Mrs. Ross attended a conference executive board meeting at the home of Mrs. Jephtha Riggs in Cape Girardeau Tuesday, and at Wednesday morning's session in Jackson she delivered an annual report in which she emphasized membership.

Mrs. Lacy Allard, a delegate to the first conference in Jackson twenty-five years ago, was at Jackson Tuesday night to attend a homecoming banquet that preceded the formal opening of the convention. Mrs. Ross was praised at the dinner for services she has contributed to the society.

Mrs. J. H. Hayden, Jr., who went to Jackson for a meeting Wednesday night, will read a scripture and lead devotional at the closing conference session this (Friday) morning.

Other Sikeston Methodist church missionary society members who have attended the meeting are Mrs. J. H. Keady, Mrs. W. E. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Frank Schulte, Miss Florence Baker, Mrs. F. D. Lair, Sr., Mrs. Harrison Tanner, Mrs. Melvin Midland, Mrs. William Gregory, Miss Edna Pinnell, and Miss Marie Marshall.

J. Boyette Fined $25 For Reckless Driving

Judge Joseph W. Myers sentenced Jesse Boyette to sixty days in jail and fined him $25 and costs Thursday after Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson had reduced the charge against him to a misdemeanor.

Judge Myers agreed to stay a ninety-day jail sentence he imposed on Harvey Minner on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Minner had made the check good, at Baron had filed a complaint against Minner for the Sikeston Bargain store.

A ninety-day jail sentence Judge Myers gave Frank Thomas, a negro, was stayed on good behavior and the approval of the circuit court.

Thomas was at first charged with being drunk, disturbing the peace of his wife, Rosa Thomas, and assaulting his son, Ben Thomas, with a knife. Testimony of the case was taken a week ago, but after Ben and Rosa said they did not wish to testify against Thomas, the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor. Judge Myers ordered ed the defendant to pay court cost.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MRS. EDITH MENZ DROPPED

A murder charge filed against Mrs. Edith Menz of near Rockview was formally dismissed this week in the Cape Girardeau county circuit court.

Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson asked the charge be dropped because he believes the state has insufficient evidence for conviction. A trial of Mrs. Menz in Scott county almost two years ago resulted in a hung jury. The case had been taken to Jackson on a charge of venue.

Mrs. Menz had been charged with her husband, Otto Menz, and Ivan Bob Stroup of Cape Girardeau, with the murder of Frank Roseme, a Rockview merchant, on December 7, 1933. Menz was sentenced to fifteen years in prison after his conviction last year on a second degree murder charge. Stroup was acquitted.

The Ellise ambulance carried Mrs. H. A. Bach to St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau Friday for an operation.

Echoes as Alarm Clocks

MODERN Americans who have to invest in alarm clocks in order to be certain of waking up in time for work each morning may well envy the good fortune of Jim Bridger, famous frontiersman, who was able to draft Mother Nature into service to assure early rising.

Near Bridger's ranch in Wyoming were some obdistant cliffs. Frequently he heard the sharp crack of a rifle which puzzled him, because he knew there was no one within 147 miles of his home. Finally it dawned on him that these reports were the echoes of the rifle shots which he had fired the previous day when he was getting his daily supply of fresh meat. These obdistant cliffs had caught the report of his rifle, held it overnight and then sent it back to him each day to remind him that it was time to go out hunting again.

Next it occurred to Jim that he might just as well make use of the echoes in other ways. So every time he knew that he had to get up early the next morning, he would step outside the door, face the cliffs and shout: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!" And, sure enough, the next morning he would be awakened by the echo shouting in his ear: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!"

George Washington Lowder, a resident of Morehouse for many years, died of apoplexy Wednesday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. George Walker. He was 80 years old.

CONRAD ARRESTED WITH PASSER OF BAD CHECKS

R. M. Lewis, a traveling salesman, and Irvin Conrad of Sikeston were arrested at Mountain View early Wednesday morning by officers who had received a pick-up order for them.

Lewis was wanted on a bad check charge. He allegedly passed a worthless check at the Roscliff hotel in Van Buren and at Mountain View before his arrest.

Conrad, whom Lewis had hired to drive him in the Kagle car, was released when officers were convinced he had no part in Lewis' activities. Lewis is in jail at West Plains.

Officers looking for Lewis and Conrad Tuesday night shot and wounded two or three Naylor and Neelyville farmers who were on their way to Arizona to visit friends. The shooting took place near Willow Springs after officers had tried unsuccessfully to flag down the farmers' car. The three men shot at the officers, whom they mistook for robbers.

Staff of Life Goes on Parade

New ideas for sandwiches are welcome any time in the year but never more welcome than in the Spring when bridge luncheons and little informal teas demand something unusual for the occasion.To fulfill that requirement I selected flavored butter sandwiches which are as different as they are delightful. And it is interesting too, to prepare new concoctions with which to spread bread for with a little ingenuity even the Staff of Life goes on parade in hues as brilliant as the flowers which bloom in the Spring.A sandwich tray gay with irregular shaped sandwiches topped with orange butter, red butter, crushed strawberry butter, crushed raspberry butter, ripe olive butter, raw spinach butter, peanut butter and pimento butter stimulates a curious appetite to try them all and as hostess to a perfect Spring luncheon, you will enjoy seeing your guests break the rules of etiquette with several helpings.There is a new pickle recipe too which blends in so perfectly with these novel sandwiches that I must give it to you now. They are called Spring pickles. Stored in an electric refrigerator, these pickles improve with age. They become more crisp and even the texture improves. The recipe is so simple, too. Slice one dozen sour pickles thin into a jar or covered dish.
Mix one cup sugar, one-half cup seedless raisins and three sticks of cinnamon with the pickles and place in the food compartment of an electric refrigerator for twenty-four hours. Makes one quart.Rainbow butter sandwiches, Spring pickles and a cup of hot tea with lemon is the solution to a menu for a simple bridge luncheon. Butter flavored with various fruit juices and incidentally at the same time colored to match your chosen color scheme gives splendid chances to be just a little different from the more usual type of sandwiches.

Orange Butter

Softened two or three ounces of sweet butter in a small bowl until it is the consistency of mayonnaise; then place bowl in dish of ice water and whip in two teaspoons orange juice, one teaspoon lemon juice and one teaspoon of powdered sugar. The butter will take up all the moisture if handled this way. (8 tablespoons of butter is equivalent to one quarter pound or 4 ounces).Fruit juices make an ideal spread or filling for sandwiches.
Sandwiches should be placed in an electric refrigerator until needed, the better the flavor. A teaspoon of finely chopped orange peel may be added if desired. Any fruit juice may be incorporated in butter by using this method. Partially melted butter should be placed in a bowl, whip in the juices and return to an electric refrigerator to harden.

Red Butter

Red butter is made from tomato paste pounded in a mortar, and then rubbed through a fine sieve and enough added to the butter to color; or a can of red tomato pulp boiled down with a clove of garlic and a few spices to the spices to the point of evaporation, cooled, then rubbed through a fine sieve and added to the butter.Crushed Raspberry or Strawberry ButterCrushed raspberry and crushed strawberry butter is made by rubbing fresh raspberries through a fine sieve. Add one tablespoon of the crushed berries to three ounces of butter. Make the butter take all the moisture you can incorporate in it.

Ripe Olive Butter

Stone and chop finely 20 large ripe olives and work them into enough creamed butter to bind.
Add one tablespoon of mayonnaise to every three ounces of butter used. Season with salt. Mayonnaise should be stiff.

Raw Spinach Butter

Scald one cup of fresh spinach for one minute; drain dry, cool, and chop very fine. Mix with three ounces of cream butter, season with salt. Add one drop of onion juice and one-sixth teaspoon of grated nutmeg. If preferred, add a little mayonnaise. Spinach raw and mixed with mayonnaise makes an ideal sandwich filler.

Peanut Butter

Put shelled and skinned peanuts through a food chopper and then mash in a mortar. Mix with enough salt butter to get the proper consistency, then work in a little raw cream. Set in an electric refrigerator until needed.

Pimento Butter

Wash two or three real red pi-mentos in cold water, dry and rub through a fine sieve. Work the pimentos into one-fourth cup of creamed sweet butter, add one teaspoon of lemon juice and enough salt to season. A half teaspoon of paprika can be added for color.SINKEY FIGHTS CLEAN IN MATCH WITH OLSEN; WINSEye gouging, mouth stretching, and slugging were part of the battle between Sinkey and Ole Olsen fought in the armory Tuesday night for victory in the Legion's main wrestling event.Sinkey and Olsen are probably the toughest, dirtiest wrestlers ever in the ring here, but perhaps because Sinkey was to be the crowd's favorite this week, he gave an amazingly clean performance, resorting to tricks only after he had been tormented excessively by Olsen.Sinkey won the match, too, but during the evening he suffered the tortures Olsen could inflict while Meroney was not watching.
Sinkey got so tired of mouth stretching that once when he got a chance, he held Olsen's finger between his teeth for more than a minute while Olsen ran about frantically trying to loosen the grip. Sinkey also put Olsen's head between twisted ropes, but only after Olsen had done it first. Ol-sen's only other trick was biting through Sinkey's shoe to his toes.Sinkey won the first fall with a rolling rocking chair split after seventeen minutes of tussling.
He lost the second in fifteen and a half minutes when Olsen got a scissors and bounced him up and down on the mat several times before pinning him. In the third round, Sinkey got the fall in nine minutes while Olsen was attempting the same stunt.The preliminary was entertaining although a little unusual. Billy Venable, who was to meet Roy Welch, was easily pinned in three minutes, and then interested the crowd by his inability to get from the ring unassisted. Meroney learned then that he had been hurt in a previous match and had only removed taping on his side Tuesday evening. Dr. Howard A.
Dunaway, who examined him, said a cartilage had been torn from a lower right rib.When it was found that Venable couldn't reappear, Meroney let Mason (Dizzy) Allen of Chaffee go on. Allen had asked Meroney earlier in the evening to put him on the circuit. Allen was outweighed nineteen pounds by Welch and was at a decided disadvantage since Welch is an expert wrestler, but he was game and the fans liked him. Welch had a good time, too, and smiled broadly as he got out of holds and pinned Allen twice in a short time.SINKEY AND KNICKLE TO MEET NEW WRESTLERSRex Mobley, whom Mike Meroney considers one of the ranking men of his weight among the country's 34,000 wrestlers, will meet Charles Sinkey Tuesday night in the main event of the American Legion's wrestling card.
Mobley weighs 190 pounds to Sinkey's 196, and his home is in Amarillo, Texas. Meroney had a hard time getting him on this circuit since he is always in demand for appearances.For the preliminary, the always popular Freddie Knickle of Birmingham, Ala., will wrestle Raul
Lopez, a 174-pounder of Mexico City, Mexico. Lopez has never been here before.

Residents who listened to a religious program broadcast over a Harrisburg, Ill., radio station Wednesday morning heard praise for members of the Baptist church here.

The Rev. Leslie Garrison, a former pastor here, and Mrs. Garrison, and the Rev. O. R. Steiner, formerly a minister of the Oran Baptist church, and Mrs. Steiner, appeared on the program.

To all members of the Sikeston

Baptist church but particularly to those who were recently bereaved Mrs. Garrison dedicated her recitation of Edgar A. Guest's "It Takes a Heap of Livin'." Mrs. Garrison also asked the Rev. and Mrs. Steiner to sing "If You'll Only Trust in Jesus" especially for the young women's sextet, and Mr. Garrison greeted the church members before he preached on "The Unpardonable Sin."

Mr. Garrison is now conducting a revival at Mr. Steiner's church in Elkville, Ill. The broadcast was given between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Hay: "That dress you have on, is the most perfect fit I've ever seen."

Mrs. Seod: "Then you should have seen the fit my husband had when he got the bill."

WOMEN DEMOCRATS OF COUNTY LEAD IN MEMBERS

Scott county Democratic women heard reports showing their organization leads all others of the tenth congressional district when they went to Caruthersville Saturday for a district quarterly meeting.

The reports were given at the conclusion of a tenth district membership drive. Scott county, with 849, is far ahead of Pemiscot, the second ranking county, which has 510 members. New Madrid has 427; Butler, 305; Cape Girardeau, 260; Dunklin, 128; Ripley, 110; Mississippi, 106; Bollinger, 72; and Stoddard, 52. The district club has a total membership of 2819.

Scott county's achievement was made possible by the activity of numerous township captains. Mrs. V. Ragsdale of Illinois, the county organization president, said.

Among them were Mrs. John G. Powell, Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., and Mrs. A. C. Barrett of Sikeston; Mrs. E. D. Preston and Miss Eileen Smith of Chaffee; Mrs. Otis Bryans and Mrs. J. T. Baty of Oran; Mrs. O. L. Spencer of Benton; Mrs. Ada Frazier and Mrs. T. L. Huggins of Illinois; Mrs. Ben Speaks of Farnett; and Mrs. A. C. Cope of Blodgett.

Membership drive reports were heard at an afternoon business session held in the Caruthersville Presbyterian church. Speakers at the meeting included Former Representative Houston Buckley of Hayti; Roy Harper of Caruthersville, chairman of the Pemiscot county Democratic central committee and secretary of the Missouri young Democratic clubs; Miss Gertrude Stokely of Jefferson City, state committeewoman; Mrs. L. S. Shade of Caruthersville, state treasurer of women's Democratic clubs; and Mrs. J. B. Clark, chairman of the Blytheville, Ark., women's club.

"Of course it feels different, Dad... it is different!"

It took more than just good performance to win over 2,500,000 Ford V-8 fans in less than four years. It's an entirely different kind of performance that did it! It's the V-8 engine, first and foremost. The smoother flow of its 85 horsepower. Its pick-up in traffic. Its easy pull in the open and up the hills. For you can't expect any less modern engine to feel like a V-8. And you don't find another V-8 below $1645.

Then there's riding comfort. Ford springbase is 123"—almost a foot longer than wheelbase. You'll quickly feel the edge this gives a Ford on cars near its size and weight. Next, there's a type of chassis in the Ford not found anywhere else in the world today. That's why a Ford "keeps its feet" so remarkably on turns and over rough roads.

Why not try these advantages today? Before you decide on any new car—get the "V-8 feel" that put the Ford first among all cars last year!

We are authorized to announce Killian Felter, of Illinois, as a candidate for Assessor of Scott county, subject to the will of the Democratic voters in the August primary.

To our way of thinking, to do a kindly act for children is a Godly act, pure and simple. There is to be a free clinic held here in Sikeston when specialists with trained nurses will remove tonsils, give treatment for other ailments for children who are unable to pay for these operations and treatment. From Poplar Bluff will come one specialist, from Cairo, another, the third had tendered his services from Cape Girardeau, but had to decline for the reason that the medical fraternity of that city declined to approve of this specialist leaving that city for free clinical work so another will be sought elsewhere. Every community has a number of children needing attention of specialists, who haven't the money with which to pay and for that reason, the Kiwanis is sponsoring this free clinic and these specialists are offering their services free for humanity's sake.

Again we wish to call your attention to the beautiful window displays of our merchants. As old as we are, we believe we could love a mighty ugly girl wearing one of those fluffy, dreamy dresses.

Sixteen to one sounds like the William Jennings Bryan's campaign slogan, but this sixteen to one is the ratio of Pennsylvania's preference for Roosevelt over others in the Presidential race. Local Republicans just as well "take a walk" election day as to go to the polls as the prospects are they will be sunk without a trace.

Be certain and visit the Legion Park and see the beautiful beds of tulips now in full bloom, then to the Railroad park to see the trees and shrubs recently put out by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The tulips are from a shipment from Holland to W. H. Woelecke, of the Sikeston Greenhouse, who bedded them.

And another good way to heat and hair over the situation would be for all contenders to retire and let the two Sikeston editors run for Mayor. Boy! oh Boy, wouldn't you hear all about the short comings of these two "molders of public opinion".

Bob Joyner opened his new restaurant on East Malone avenue Tuesday of this week where a great many of his friend turned out to enjoy the splendid food prepared by his chef. The room was tastily arranged with roomy booths down the entire length of the west side, while the tables were placed down the center, each to accommodate four guests, down the east side were two family tables that would comfortably seat six or eight. Some finishing touches are yet to be given in the decorations of walls and ceiling. Mrs. Frances Clodfelter Turner will manage this new establishment, ably assisted by three experienced waitresses. The Standard editor and Mrs. Blanton were among those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Joyner.

A long stretch of street in Kingshighway, the width of trench dug for sanitary sewer several years ago broke through and sunk 18 inches during the heavy rain of Monday night. At first it was believed by many that a long grave had been dug to bury out of sight forever the illegal voters of the late city election.

We are asked about the contest case just around the corner. We are not one of the principals in the case, neither one of the attorneys, therefore, we have nothing to say except from what we hear, if the matter is pressed some folks will be shown up in a pretty bad light and others face the penitentiary.

Hollywood Star-Lites

By Chuck Cochard

By Chuck Cochard
Hollywood, Calif., April 127.—Elinor Grew's famous "it" has at last been found or at least measured by movie scientists.

On the theory that feminine "it" is, more or less, the vibrations of color as deflected in light from the face of a beautiful woman, Sam Kaufman, veteran makeup expert for Pioneer Pictures has perfected a system by which it is possible to measure these vibratory "it" cycles.

With a spectroscopic and a table of figures representing the scientific computation of the vibrations in all colors, Kaufman is now ready to analyze the "it" of all screen stars, male and female, thus solving forever, in cold figures, the question of just who has the most appeal.

Steffi Duna, new diminutive player, was Kaufman's first subject. Her vibrations per second, namely "it", according to Kaufman's computations, total no less than two quadrillion, 75 trillion! "Enough," says Kaufman amazed by the magnitude of his own idea, "to awaken romantic echoes in the soul of a marble statue".

Kaufman's system is simple enough in application and could be done at home by anyone wishing to calculate their own "it" power.

Light is reflected, from the face of the subject analyzed through a common spectroscopic which segregates the colors. A chart containing the various vibratory powers of all colors can be obtained from your nearest scientist. Place these figures after each color reflected, add the total, and there's your "it".

Star-Lites: Dolores Costello Barrymore, who made her screen comeback in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will have an opportunity to play her first glamorous role in her new film career in "Yours For the Asking" opposite George Raft. Miss Costello's last picture before retiring was in 1931. Others in the cast include Ida Lupino, Reginald Owen, Lynne Overman.

Can you imagine anything more beautiful than to photograph the story "Beau Geste" in color with Gary Cooper as the star... Samuel Goldwyn, visiting in London has signed Elizabeth Bergner to a five-year contract, with her first production to be "The Boy David", new play by Barrie.

Janet Gaynor's next will be "Banjo on My Knee"... Ann Nagel, Warner's newest discovery, comes before the cameras for the first time as Dick Foran's leading lady in "Two-Gun Buckaroo."

Fighting Vegetable Pests

THERE are two major classifications of insect pests—chewing and sucking. Chewing insects, such as beetles, leave telltale holes in leaves. Control by dusting or spraying plants with arsenicals (poisons with arsenate of lead as a base) or pyrethrum. These remedies are known as stomach poisons, for they must be eaten by the insects. Plants commonly attacked include cucumber, squash, other vine crops, mustard, tomato and pepper.

Presence of sucking insects, such as aphids or plant lice, is indicated by a general lack of vitality in the plant. Control by dusting or spraying, directly on the insects, nicotine sulphate or pyrethrum. These insects do not eat exterior plant texture and must be killed by a contact poison. Among plants attacked are peas, pepper, cabbage and related crops.

All seedlings may well be treated early with light application of an arsenical.

Special treatment should be given two pests—cutworm and leaf beetle. The former (a chewing insect) is very fond of tender pepper, tomato and cabbage plants, and is controlled by spreading about a spoonful of "poison bran bait" near each plant. This should be done at nightfall. Leaf beetle (also a chewing insect) is found on tomato, pepper, turnips and other plants. It can be repelled by a Bordeaux mixture spray.

Remember this important "don't". Don't use arsenicals on the edible portion of vegetables within 14 days of the time they are to be used. Pyrethrum sprays, however, are equally effective and may be safely used at any time.

Flashes From Here and There:—Alberto Valentino, brother of the late Rudolph, has been given a featured role in the Mary Ellis-Walton Pidgeon film, "Fatal Lady". A treatise in Denver recently reopened, after a fire, with a policy of pictures, stage shows, a bar, restaurant, and dance space. Chairs have been removed from the main floor to allow dancing and the erection of food counters. Upon the completion of his role in "Bullets or Ballots", Edward G. Robinson goes to London to make a picture for Alexander Korda. The announcement that Radio studios would film David Lamson's "We Who Are About to Die" has brought an influx of requests to act as technical advisor or on the prison picture by scores of ex-convicts who have since gone straight.

Round Hollywood: Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames whose reconciliation so often has been rumored, are still far apart. Mary Carlisle is waiting, feverishly for Paul Mitchell, who is coming all the way from London to see her. Dick Cromwell and Rochelle Hudson munching peanuts together at the circus. Grace Bradley and Frank Prince dancing together at the Beverly-Wilshire hotel's Florentine room to the newest sensation in Hollywood, Larry Lee and his music who by the way has introduced a novelty entitled "Dancing in the Dark". Frances Farmer and Lief Erikson hamburgering together at a lunch wagon outside Paramount.

established for every farmer in Scott county who wishes to co-operate in the program, according to County Agent F. B. Veatch, Jr. This base is essential for measuring the increase in soil-conserving crops or practices on individual farms in 1936, in line with the national goal to increase by 30,000,000 acres the amount of crop land devoted to soil-conserving crops or uses.

Each farm's soil-depleting base will be the total acreage of soil-depleting crops harvested on the farm in 1935, modified as the community committee finds necessary to allow for unusual conditions and to establish a fair relationship between individual bases within the community.

The principal crops which will go to make up soil-depleting bases for farms in this county are field corn; sweet corn; broomcorn; popcorn; cotton; Irish potatoes; sweet potatoes; cultivated sunflowers; commercial truck and canning crops; grain sorghums and sweet sorghums; small grains harvested for grain or hay, or seeded alone and pastured such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flax, and grain mixtures; and annual grasses, such as sudan and millets.

Farmers who co-operated in the 1935 crop-control program will get credit in their soil-depleting bases for any adjustments which they made under those programs. That is, the soil-depleting bases on such farms will include the number of adjusted acres under the contract that were devoted to soil-conserving crops in 1935. Soil-conserving crops include practically all annual, biennial and perennial grasses, grown on crop land from which no soil-depleting crop is harvested during the year.

Adjustments likewise will be made for unusual variations in plantings in 1936 because of adverse weather conditions. Adjustments also may be made with bases that are either abnormally high or abnormally low in order to bring them more nearly in line with bases for similar farms in the community.

If necessary, the various soil-depleting bases for individual farmers will be further adjusted to bring them into line with the aggregate base acreage of soil-depleting crops established for the county from available statistics on acreage and production in past years.

Special soil-depleting bases will be established in the case of cotton.

HEY MOTORISTS! LISTEN!
By THE LITTLE ENGINEER

THAT headline doesn't mean holding hands with a gal while you're driving. That's out! It means the proper position of your hands on the steering wheel. Did you ever give that a thought?

You can generally spot a new motorist. He clutches the wheel tightly on both sides with arms extended rigidly, teeth gritted, every nerve taut. All wrong. Gradually he'll get over it and acquire more relaxed and less enervating wheel-holding habits. And these may be wrong, too.

Some motorists steer with one hand, sometimes with one finger. Despite the marvelous steering mechanisms of the new cars this is a direct invitation to serious trouble. So is the widely adopted practice of driving with the left elbow sticking out the window or resting on the window sill. Both habits give too little and too slow control of the steering in emergencies.

Experts usually hold the hands in a position similar to the hands on a clock when it is twenty minutes past ten as the most advantageous for comfort and perfect control.

Position of feet is also important. Flat on the floor is best after you've thoroughly learned where the brake and clutch pedals are and can manipulate them instantly. Don't "ride" either clutch or brake. It produces dangerous and costly wear.

Hints for Motorists
By C. R. Strouse
Director, School of Automobiles,

ON cars equipped with all-felt window channels, trouble is often experienced with the felt swelling up when wet, so that it is almost impossible to raise or lower the glass. Running an ordinary black marking crayon, such as used to label boxes, along the inside of the channels will permit the window to be moved easily, regardless of weather conditions.

When lubricating the chassis of an automobile equipped with four-wheel brakes, never fill the front hub caps with grease. Many greasy and grabbing front brakes have been caused by the presence of grease in the caps. The front wheels should be removed after every 5,000 miles of running, and the bearings washed thoroughly with gasoline. The bearings should then be re-coated with grease and replaced.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

MAY first brings Child Health Day and reminds us that children need plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables supplemented by eggs and meat, cereals and bread and a modest amount of sweets.

On the whole, the season and markets made it fairly easy to buy or have milk, cheese, butter, eggs, fruits and vegetables. Fresh fish, however, is a better value this week than most meat cuts and it is just as good in the diet.

If cooked and served differently one does not get tired of fish any more than of meat. Chuck of beef and veal are perhaps the best meat value.

Asparagus, spinach, green beans, peas, onions, carrots and beets are plentiful. Bananas are inexpensive and when ripe are an excellent food for children.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner
Chuck Steak with Onions
Creamed Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Banana Betty

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Chicken
Giblet Gravy
Boiled Rice
Green Peas

Very Special Dinner

Home Demonstrator Agents Notes

Delegates to Washington

Mrs. Otto Bugg, president of the Vanduser home economics extension club, Mrs. Grover Baker of Sikeston, and Miss Veva Anthony, county home demonstration agent, have made reservations for the trip to Washington, D. C., the last of May, to attend the meeting of the association of country women of the world. Several others are considering the trip. It is hoped that there will be four or five delegates when the enrollment is completed the last of this week.

Any Scott county farm bureau member or any woman co-operating in home economics extension work is eligible to go as a delegate. If you are interested in making this trip get in touch with Miss Anthony at once. A special rate has been made by the railroads which makes the trip very economical. This is an opportunity for any one interested to attend a worthwhile conference at a minimum cost.

Garden and Canning Survey Made

One of the goals set up by the women's home economics extension clubs of Scott county was to reduce the amount of money spent for food by increasing the production of vegetables and by increasing the amount of food-stuff stored and canned. A survey has been made of last year's gardening and canning activities. It has been found that the average number of vegetables grown by a community varied from thirteen to twenty, while the average of vegetables canned or preserved ranged from 66 to 172 quarts per family. The women believe they can raise this average to from twenty to twenty-five vegetables per family and the amount canned to fifty quarts per member for each family. This fall another survey will be conducted and the results published.

4-H Club News

Mrs. Ollie Royal, with the assistance of the home demonstration agent, organized a 4-H Clothing I club in the neighborhood of the Chaney school district. Mrs. Royal was unanimously chosen as leader by the nine girls forming the club. Miss Ruth Wilcox was elected president; Miss Minnie L. Byrd, vice-president; Nota Hixson, secretary; Millie Lee Byrd, song leader; and Mary Royal, club reporter.

The girls plan to make three or more cotton garments and to exhibit their garments at the county 4-H achievement day. They also plan to enter a demonstration team in the county contest. Their goal is to have 100 per cent of the membership complete the project.

4-H Music Hour

During this week there are two especially good radio programs on the air. They are the national 4-H music and the homemakers' radio hour. These programs may be heard over any of the national network stations on Wednesday, May 6, and Saturday, May 2, respectively, between 11:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. The 4-H music hour consists of favorite songs of the south and the United States marine band will play the opening and closing numbers.

Mrs. Charles Schuttler, state home and community chairman of the Missouri farm bureau, will be in Benton, May 15 for a county-wide meeting of all women who are interested in home and community improvement, according to Miss Veva Anthony, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Schuttler is a woman of wide interests and contacts and has unusual ability as a speaker. Everyone is invited.

Retail Sales Reporting Service Available To Independent Stores

The extension of the retail sales reporting service of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, to include the state of Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Arkansas and Kansas, was announced today by Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce. This step conforms to the policy of the bureau to supply American business with accurate and current business information, as it was stated.

In making the announcement, Secretary Roper pointed out that this service, long needed to fill an important gap in the information regarding retail distribution, was originally initiated in accordance with the recommendations of the committee on "Elimination of Waste in Distribution" of the business advisory council, and will be a permanent part of the research of the department of commerce.

The purpose of the monthly sales reporting service is two-fold; the establishment of an accurate sensitive business indicator; and the special benefit to the retailer himself which this cooperative service provides. Retail trade is among the first sections of business activity to feel any change in general economic conditions, which greatly adds to the value of these data as an index of business. The individual retailer is benefited by participating in this service as it enables him to check up on his own business performance as compared with the general experience of others in his own and related lines of business. With this monthly barometer at hand he can determine whether his store is operating at the same level as the average for his line, and, perhaps even more important, he can use the information given him as a basis for his planning of future operation, such as sales and advertising campaigns, stock buying.

The bulletins, issued monthly, are released about twenty-five days after the close of the business month for each individual state, with the lines of business shown separately. The basic data for the bulletins are secured from a representative sample of retailers throughout each state, who furnish the bureau with confidential reports each month.

The lines of business included in this service are:

Grocery without meats; grocery with meats; country general stores; restaurants; florists; drugs; men's and boys' clothing; family clothing; Women's ready-to-wear; shoe; motor vehicles; filling stations; furniture; household appliances; lumber and building materials; hardware; jewelry.

To avoid duplication of effort, department store sales, which are already collected throughout the country by the federal reserve system, are not included in this monthly survey. Chain store sales also excluded as they are covered in separate services especially designed to reflect the trend of their business.

The only request made of the cooperating retailers is that they fill in three figures on a prepared form, seal the report in a self-addressed envelope and mail it to the St. Louis district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, 635 New Federal building, St. Louis, Missouri. The monthly bulletins are sent free of charge to all independent retailers cooperating in the program. All interested retailers are requested to contact the St. Louis district office of the bureau, or write to the bureau in Washington for complete information.

The service is now available through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce for the state of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin; for Massachusetts, in cooperation with the federal Reserve bank of Boston; and for Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, in cooperation with the bureau of business research of the University of Texas. Preparations are well under way toward extending the service to Colorado and Wyoming, in cooperation with the bureau of business and social research of the University of Denver; and to Ohio, in cooperation with the Ohio State University. Other states are to be included later, and it is planned that the program will ultimately be national in scope.

BOY SEVERS ARTERY AND LOSES A QUART OF BLOOD

Buddy Griffin was probably pretty weak Wednesday. Buddy is a little 8-year-old negro boy who lives with his father, Griffin, on an E. P. Coleman farm near town. Early Tuesday afternoon while he was helping his mother catch chickens to put them up before the rain, he stepped on a piece of glass, which severed an artery.

Because the rain fell hard, Buddy's family couldn't get him to Dr. T. C. McClure's office for an hour, and when he did arrive, blood was pouring from his foot onto front street, the stairs, and in Dr. McClure's office. He lost about a quart.

Mr. Loomis Niswonger and grandmother, Mrs. Susan Hartle of near Millersville visited at the Allen and Hartle home from Thursday until Monday. Mrs. Hartle is the mother of Mrs. O. B. KIWANIS TONNELL CLINIC TO BE HELD HERE MAY 8

The Kiwanis club sponsored tonsillitis clinic will be held in the grammar school building basement on May 8, the Rev. E. H. Orear said yesterday.

Dr. James Johnson of Cairo and a second throat specialist from Poplar Bluff will perform operations on children whose cases have been approved for treatment and whose parents have given consent. Dr. Johnson directed a similar clinic at Charleston last year. The specialists will be assisted by qualified nurses.

Dr. M. H. Shelby of Cape Girardeau, who was to have been here to help at the clinic, was prevented by a resolution Cape Physicians recently passed forbidding members of their profession to give free treatment in other towns.

Mr. Orear could not tell this week how many children will undergo operations. Two hundred and fifty need tonsillectomies, he said, most of them will be eliminated either through the ability of their parents to pay for treatment or through parents withholding consent.

M. E. BIBLE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN CAPE

Dr. Robert W. Goodloe, professor of church history in the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, will give a series of Bible lectures in the Centenary Methodist church at Cape Girardeau on May 3, 4, and 5. This series of lectures is for the entire Cape Girardeau district. Rev. Dawson C. Bryan is the presiding elder.

Dr. Goodloe is an authority in the field of church history and will be able to bring valuable help to the laity. Hundreds of students who have sat under Dr. Goodloe in his classes testify that he has all of the enthusiasm and fire of the original Methodists along with the intelligent scholarship of a present day leader. He is worth the sacrifice of time and effort to enable you to hear all of his lectures.

He will lecture in the afternoon at 2:30 on the "Acts of the Apostles" and at evening at 7:30, on "The Church and the Sacraments." The public is invited to these lectures and the price of admission is only your good will to the cause of Christ.

ILLINOIS JAIL BREAKERS ADMIT THEFT OF AUTO

Phillip Busick and Earl Fines, the Illinois boys caught by highway patrolmen March 31 after they had stolen five cars and a rowboat in a flight from the Bloomington, Ill., jail, pled guilty in the Cape Girardeau county circuit court Tuesday to theft of Eldon Roberts' automobile in Jackson.

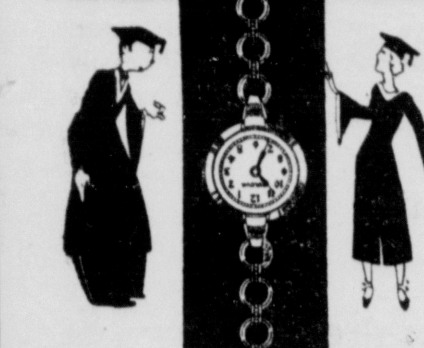

Judge Frank Kelly sentenced Busick to four years in the Missouri training school for boys at Booneville and rejected the boy's mother's plea for clemency. He did not sentence Fines but instructed the prosecuting attorney to learn if Fines is still wanted in Bloomington, to serve a term of from one to twenty years.

Fines, who has had an extensive criminal career, was serving a term for automobile theft and Busick a term for vagrancy when they broke from the Bloomington jail and started south in cars they stole along the way. They were caught in New Madrid.

Wallace Byrd's $10,000 damage suit against Elmer Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, and Byron Patterson for the death of his brother, Tony, at the Diamond tavern August 29, 1935, was continued. The case was taken to the Cape court on a change of venue from Scott county.

WHAT THE JUNIOR CHAMBER IS DOING

Always anxious to give Sikeston good publicity, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are now trying to interest Major Edward Bowes in making Sikeston an honor city on one of his Sunday night amateur hour broadcasts.

They know that the town is probably too small to be made an honor city, but if the major even mentions Sikeston's request some night, they will feel rewarded. They asked Dr. Tom L. Chidester, the secretary, to send a letter to Major Bowes, and Dr. Chidester, like a native, although he has lived here only since last fall, wrote these lines:

"I am writing you on behalf of the Sikeston Junior Chamber of Commerce in regard to your N.B.C. network broadcast over N.B.C. Network.

"We are interested in knowing what a city must do to become favored as your Honor City. We would appreciate greatly this information and assure you the greatest co-operation.

"Sikeston is located in the Southeastern corner of Missouri on Highways No. 60, 61, and 62 with a population of 7000. It lies half way between St. Louis, Missouri, and Memphis, Tennessee, and is known as Southeast Missouri's oasis. We are twenty miles from the Mississippi river, thus affording us river transportation to the Gulf of Mexico. Sikeston is endowed by its rich farm lands, raising cotton, corn and wheat extensively. There are also several industries here which afford nice payrolls. We have two railroads, one airport and a bus line. To become your Honor City would greatly benefit us in our new project of building Sikeston to a City of industries."

Since the letter was sent only Saturday, Major Bowes has had it only two or three days. The Junior chamber awaits his public or private answer.

Queen of Beauty

The Junior chamber, as eager to find beauty as to lure industries here, is thinking of sponsoring a contest this spring to find a young woman who could represent Sikeston at a state-wide competition to be held during the week of the Missouri fair in Sedalia. Last year judges selected Miss Freda Lankford after the Junior chamber had paraded almost fifty girls before them. If rules governing the contest are the same, the club will probably hold one here this month or next.

New Members

Roy Beaird and Billy Malone were voted into the Junior chamber and Garwood Sharp became an active member at Tuesday night's meeting.

EXPLAINS SOIL PROGRAM

Community Committeemen Assist In Preparing Work Sheets

All farmers, including those who are tenants, operators, or owners of farms in Scott county, now have available the services of community and county committeemen and county agricultural agents to assist them in preparing work sheets under the new national agricultural conservation program, advises F. B. Veatch, Jr., the county agent. Committeemen are now assisting in making out work sheets and are aiding individual farmers in planning their farming operations so as to conserve and build their soil and qualify for grants.

A farmer is under no obligation to fill out a work sheet or to perform in line with the program. In any event he may have the advantage of learning how his farming operations could be adjusted to qualify under the conservation program. However, a farmer must fill out a work sheet if he is to be eligible to apply for a grant.

The program is designed to benefit all persons engaged in farming, including tenants, operators, and owners. Each can contribute to the program by familiarizing himself with the conditions and by engaging in a soil-building program on the land which he, himself, farms.

Local committeemen will aid each farmer in determining his soil-depleting acreage base and necessary and proper practices in order to qualify for payments.

"As the government is sharing with farmers the expense of improving the fertility of their farms", says County Agent Veatch, "farmers should be prepared to furnish committeemen with the necessary information and to co-operate in every way possible. The county association considers this an excellent opportunity to assure a good future for farming in Scott county."

ADULT EDUCATION

The Adult Education movement springs from the assumption that knowledge is the true foundation of individual happiness and a necessary condition for social progress. Civilization can only succeed as knowledge grows, and as new abilities are discovered and used for common ends. Modern society can provide a better life for its members only if knowledge and the power of leadership can be made to keep pace with the growing need for both in this rapidly changing world. Herebefore custom and tradition were sufficient to provide for its propagation. Education could safely be confined to a few who were to act as leaders. But in a society whose very existence depends upon the power of adaption to change in which new and better ways of living are made possible only by new knowledge which all must possess, the choice lies between education at a much higher level for larger numbers of people or a discovery of some means whereby the great complexity of modern life may be reduced to a mechanical routine. The success of a democracy depends directly upon the degree of intelligence exhibited by the masses and that degree of intelligence depends upon the amount of educational opportunity that has been continuously open to these masses. The ambition of Adult Education is to set men free from bad taste in living, in recreation and most of all free from the utter drabness of an unfulfilled life. The span of living is too brief to be filled with useless and light activities. Recreation is necessary but education will enable persons to choose such recreation as will be a contributing factor to mental growth and character building. Education, upon the part of the individual, ceases only at death.

Under the Adult Education program in Scott County the work is divided into three groups—Literary, General Adult and Vocational. Many beginners who have been taught to read and write. Others, for the sake of wider culture have improved themselves to achieve greater effectiveness in social service. A large number of homemakers have availed themselves of the opportunity to learn to utilize materials from existing resources. Helpful hints on child care, cooking and other phases of home-making have been stressed.

May 4-9 has been set aside as Achievement Week. An exhibit of work accomplished and a program in connection will be observed.

FARMERS ARE IN CHARGE

Will Co-operatively Control New Soil Program

Local farmers themselves have control over the new national agricultural conservation program in Scott county, says County Agent F. B. Veatch, Jr. The entire organization—community, county and state, is made up of farmers acting in co-operation with the extension service of the U. S. department of agriculture and the agricultural adjustment administration and state colleges of agriculture.

Committees elected by farmers of the community constitute the active field force. They advise with their neighbors and assist them in preparing work sheets so that their farming practices may embrace soil-conserving and soil-building requirements to qualify for federal grants.

All farmers are eligible for membership in the Scott county agricultural conservation association. The chairman of each community or township committee is a member of the board of directors of the county association. The president of the county association is chosen by the county board and he, the vice president, and one or more elected board members constitute the county committee.

The county committee passes upon such questions as may arise within the county, reviews all bases established by community committeemen as well as forms filed in the county in connection with the act, makes recommendations to the secretary of agriculture concerning the making of grants, and, in accordance with official instructions, may hold hearings, conduct investigations, or consider special cases that may appear to warrant additional attention.

The state agricultural conservation committee has wide powers to recommend soil-building practices, crops qualifying under the program, and to regulate Class I and Class II grants. Again this is a farmers' board acting with representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture.

County Agent Veatch has been designated to represent the secretary of agriculture in dealing with the Scott county agricultural conservation association.

Wanderings of Isaac and Jacob

THE Hebrews remained in Canaan, living off their flocks and herds like the rest of the pastoral tribes in the land. But they refused to merge with these other tribes despite that they were so like them. When their chieftain's son, Isaac, was ready to take a wife, his father sent all the way to Padan-Aram—about 450 miles!—to get a Hebrew maiden for him. And years later, Isaac was in turn exceedingly anxious that his own son, Jacob, should also seek his wife in Padan-Aram. Intermarriage with the Canaanites was counted altogether a crime.

Abraham died full of years, and Isaac succeeded him as chieftain of the Hebrews in Canaan. He and his followers dwelt in what was called the South Country, a sandy region on the edge of the desert. Perhaps they were unable to penetrate farther north, where the soil was much more fertile, because the Canaanites there were better able to keep newcomers out. Even in the South Country, which was a sort of No-Man's Land the Hebrews had their fierce battles to fight.

Genesis 26:10-20 reports what may have been a common incident in their daily life: "And Isaac's servants digged in the valley, and found there a well of springing water. And the herdsmen of Gerar did strive with Isaac's herdsmen, saying, 'The water is ours.' There must have been much of such 'striving' until finally Isaac made treaties with certain of the neighboring sheikhs. (The word 'sheikh'—which is pronounced sheykh—is the Arabic for chieftain. It does not even remotely connote the handsome, impetuous lover in desert garb who is so popular a figure in our cinemas.)

Thereafter Isaac dwelt in peace at an oasis named Beer-Sheba, and not until he was near death did he move again. He went then to Hebron, which had been the central camp of the Hebrews during Abraham's time. There, in the Cave of Machpelah, Abraham and his wife, Sarah, lay buried. And when Isaac died, he, too, was buried there.

Jacob, although he was the younger son of Isaac, became the chieftain of the Hebrews when his father died. His elder brother, Esau, was a wild fellow who took native women for his wives and became the father of a race of marauders down in the wilderness of Mt. Seir. Jacob managed to trick Esau out of the blessing which belonged to the first-born, and then fled north to Haran, his mother's native land. There he joined the clan of his uncle, Laban, and with his labor bought two of Laban's daughters as his wives. And with the aid of God, Jacob so prospered that soon he had a clan of his own. He then returned to Canaan, for that was, after all, his real homeland. On the way back he was met by Esau, who had marched up from Seir with 400 of his followers; but there were no hostilities for Esau had forgiven his brother.

Jacob led his clan across the Jordan and settled near Shechem; but before long an unpleasantness with the natives forced him to seek new pasturage for his flocks. He moved south, stopping at Bethel, which was a holy place to him because there he had had a wondrous vision when on his flight to Haran. (It was still an important shrine many centuries later, as we shall learn farther on in this book.)

At Bethel Jacob renewed his covenant with Jehovah, and then moved on to Ephrath, where he buried his beloved wife, Rachel. Finally he got as far south as Hebron, where he laid eyes once more on his aged father, Isaac. And in Hebron, he stayed many years, ruling there, after his father died, as chieftain of the whole Hebrew clan, and prospering all the time. Perhaps he would have remained in Hebron till his death had it not been for his son Joseph.

The Adventures of Joseph

JACOB had many sons, but of them all his most favored was the young one, Joseph. Joseph was unlike his brethren, for he was a dreamer and an ambitious youth, while they were stolid, hard-headed fellows content to be mere herdsmen. And therefore they all distrusted and envied Joseph. Now it came to pass that one day his father sent the boy to see how his brothers were faring, for they had gone off to the north with the tribal flocks.

The Hebrew herdsmen evidently found it necessary at times to wander far from the tribal encampment at Hebron in order to find fresh pasturage. In this particular instance they were reported to have gone to Shechem, which must have been at least a two or three-days' journey away. Joseph followed them thither, only to learn, however, that they had wandered still farther north. So he followed after them and found them at Dothan. But when his brethren saw him coming, instead of welcoming him, they took him prisoner and sold him to a caravan of Ishmaelite or Midianite traders going to Egypt.

By these traders he was in turn sold as a slave to an Egyptian official named Potiphar, and bitter were the experiences which Joseph then encountered. False accusation was brought against him by Potiphar's wife, and Joseph was flung into prison. But through the intervention of Jehovah he won his release after a time, and then actually rose to be viceroy of all Egypt. He forewarned the king—or pharaoh, as each king was called in Egypt—that a famine was coming, and urged him to store up grain in advance. And when ensuing events proved the value of Joseph's counsel, he was given the highest honors in the land.

Now the famine came also to Canaan, and old Jacob, hearing there was grain stored up in Egypt, sent his sons to buy some there. And thus were the brethren brought face to face with Joseph once more. But they had long repented of their crime, and Joseph took the sweetest revenge by returning good for evil.

He obtained royal permission for all of them to settle in the fertile meadows of Egypt. Jacob, still the chieftain of the Hebrews, did not hesitate to join in the long trek through the desert, even though he was a very old man by now. He settled in a region called Goshen, and there his descendants continued to live for generations.

So long as Joseph was still alive, the Hebrews were left at peace in Goshen. Dwelling in the generous delta of the River Nile, they prospered exceedingly and multiplied until "the land was filled with them." But when Joseph died, and his service to the country was forgotten, the Egyptians turned on the alien folk and made them slaves.

Taskmasters lashed them to work on those huge buildings, the ruins of which are still to be seen in Egypt. They built "treasure-houses," that is, fortresses or garisons, for the ruling Pharaoh. (The ruins of two of these "treasure-houses," Pitom and Ramses, have been located in modern times. Bitter indeed was the travail of the Hebrews, for their masters were without mercy.)

But then Jehovah had mercy on his people and sent them a leader named Moses to deliver them from bondage. The story of that deliverance is recounted in the Book of Exodus, and it is a story full of wonders. Moses had to bring down ten fell plagues upon the Egyptians before at last Pharaoh would let the Hebrews go. Even then the tyrant was not sufficiently humbled, for immediately after the slaves departed he gathered his army and set out to recapture them. The runaways, heavily laden with the booty they had taken from their former masters, had not been able to travel fast; indeed they were still no farther than the Bitter Lakes when Pharaoh was almost on them.

Must Give Aid

The international salvage treaty adopted by 20 nations in 1910 says that every master of a ship is bound, so far as he can do so without serious danger to his vessel and her crew and passengers, to render assistance to everybody, even though an enemy, found at sea in danger of being lost.
